
The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He sheweth Israel, that al theyr glo rye and outwarde ceremonies shalbe put downe and cease.

A Thys is the worde of the LORDE, that came vnto Joell the sonne of Phatuell: Heare o ye elders, ponder thys well, all ye yͭ dwell in the londe: yf euer ther happened suche a thynge in your dayes, or in the dayes of your fathers. Tell youre chyldren of it, and let them shewe it vnto theyr chyldren, and so they to certifie theyr posterite therof. Loke what the cater= piller hath lefte, that hath the * gres= hopper eaten vp: what the greshop= per lefte, that hath the locuste eaté vp: and what the locuste hath lefte, yͭ hath the blastynge consumed. Wake vp ye dronkardes, and wepe, mourne all ye wynesuppers, because of your swete wyne, for it shall be taken awaye from youre mouth. Yee a mightie and an in= numerable people shall come vp in to my londe: * these haue teth lyke yͤ teth of lyōs, and chawes lyke the lyonesses.

They shall make my vynyarde wayst, they shall pill of the barckes of my fyg= getrees, strype them bare, caste them a= waye, and make the braunches whyte.
B Make thy mone as a virgin doth, yͭ gyrdeth her selfe with sacke, because of hir brydegrome. For the meate & drynkofferynge shalbe také awaye frō the house of yͤ LORDE: & the prestes yͤ LORDES ministers shal mourne The felde shalbe waysted yͤ londe shal= be in a miserable case: for yͤ corne shal= be destroied, the swete wyne shall come to cōfusion, & the oyle vtterly desolate.
The husbōdemen and the wyne garde= ners shall loke piteously & make lamē= tacion, for the wheate, wyne & barley, and because the haruest vpon the felde is so clene destroyed. The grapegathe= rers shal make great mone, when the vynarde & fyggtrees be so vtterly wai= sted. Yee all the pomgranates, palm= trees, apletrees, and the other trees of the felde shal wyther awaye. Thus the mery cheare of the chyldren of mē, shal come to confusion. Gyrde you, and ma= ke your mone, o ye prestes: mourne ye ministres of the alter: go your waye in & slepe in sackcloth, o ye officers of my God: for yͤ meat & drinkofferinge shall be také away frō yͤ house of your God C * Proclame a fastynge, call the cō= gregacion, gather the elders and al the inhabiters of the lōde together in to yͤ house of yͤ LORDE your God, and crie vnto the LORD: Alas, alas for this daye. And why? yͤ daye of yͤ LOR= DE is at honde, & commeth as a des= troier from the Almightie. Shal not yͤ meates be také awaye before our eyes, the myrth also stoppe from the house of oure God? The sede shall perish in the grounde, the garners shal lye waist, the floores shalbe broken downe, for the corne shalbe destroied. * O what a sigh= ynge make the cattel? yͤ bullockes are very euell lykynge, because they haue no pasture: and the shepe are famyshed awaye. O LORDE, to yͤ wyll I crie: for the fyre hath consumed the goodly pastures of the wyldernesse, and the flame hath brent vp all the trees of the felde. Yee the wylde beastes crye also vnto the: for yͤ water ryuers are dryed vp, and the fyre hath cōsumed the pas= tures of the wyldernesse.

The.ii.Chapter.

¶ The plages are great, wherfore he wolde haue thē to mourne: yet yf they wyl amende, they maye hope for grace.

A Blowe out the trompet in Sion and crie vpon my holy hyl, that al such as dwel in the londe, maye tremble at it * for the daye of yͤ LORDE commeth, and is harde at hāde: a darcke day, a gloomynge day, a cloudy daye, yee & a stormy daye, lyke as the mornynge spredeth out vpō the hilles: Namely, a great & mighty peo= ple: such as haue not ben sence yͤ begyn= nynge, nother shal be after thē for euer= more. Before him shal be a cōsumynge fyre, & behinde him a burninge flame.
The londe shal be as a gardē of plea= sure before him, but behind him shal it be a very wayst wyldernesse, and ther is no man, that shal escape hym. They are to loke vpon lyke barbed horses, & runne lyke horsemē. They skyppe vp vpon yͤ hilles, as it were the sounde of charettes: as the flame of fyre that cō= sumeth the strawe, and as a mightie people ready to the battayl.
B The folke shalbe afrayed of him, all faces shall be as blacke as a pot.
These shall rūne lyke gyaūtes, & leape ouer yͤ walles like men of warre. Eue= ry mā in his goinge shal kepe his araie & not go out of his pathe. Ther shall not one dryue another, but ech shal kepe his owne ways. They shal breake in at ÿ wyndowes, & be not hurt: They shal come in to the cytie, and runne vpō the walles: They shall clymme vp vpon ÿ houses, and slyppe in at ÿ wyndowes lyke a thefe. The earth shall quake before hym, yee ÿ heauens shalbe moued: the * Sonne & Moone shall be darckened, and the starres shall wythdrawe theyr shyne. The LORDE shall shewe hys voyce before hys hoost, for hys hoost is great stronge and mightie to fulfil hys commaundement. Thys is ÿ great and maruaylous fearfull daye of the LORDE: * And who is able to abyde it?

C ✠ Nowe therfore sayeth ÿ LORDE: * Turne you vnto me with all youre hartes, with fastynge, weppynge & mournynge: rente your hartes, and not your clothes. Turne you vnto the LORDE your God, * for he is gracious and mercyfull, longe sufferynge and of great cōpassion, & redy to pardone wyckednes. Thē (no doute) he also shall turne, and forgeue: & after his chastenyng, he shal let your increace remayne, for meate and drinkofferinges vnto ÿ LORD your God? * Blowe out wyth the trōpet in Sion, proclame a fastynge, call the congregacion, and gather the people together: warne the congregacion, gather the elders, bringe the chyldren and sucklynges together. Let ÿ brydegrome go forth of hys chābre, and ÿ bryde out of hyr closet. Let the prestes serue ÿ LORDE betwixte the porch and the aulter, weppynge and sayege: be fauourable (o LORDE) be fauourable vnto thy people: let not thyne herytage be brought to such confusion, lest ÿ Heythē be lordes therof: * Therfore shulde they saye amōge ÿ Heythē: where is now theyr God?

D Thē shal ÿ LORD be gelous ouer his londe, & spare hys people: yee the LORD shal answer & say to his people: Behold, I wyl sēde you corne, wyne & oyle, so ÿ ye shal haue plētye of thē & I wyll nomore geue you ouer to be a reprofe amōge the Heythē. E Agayne as for him of ÿ north, I shal dryue him farre frō you: and shute hym out in to a drye & wayst londe, hys face toward the east see, and hys hyndre partes towarde the vttemoost see. The stynke of hym shal go vp, & hys fylthy corrupcion shall fal vpon himself, because he hath dealte so proudly. Feare not (o londe) but be glad & reioyce, for ÿ LORDE wyll do great thynges. Be not ye afrayed nother o ye beastes of the feld, for the pastures shall be grene and the trees shall beare theyr frute, the fygge trees and vynyardes shall geue theyr increase.

G ✠ Be glad then (o ye chyldren of Sion) & reioyce in the LORDE your God, for he hath geuē you the teacher of ryghteousnes: * he it is that shall sēde you downe showers of rayne, early and late in the fyrst moneth: so that the garners shall be full of corne and ÿ presses plenteous in wyne & oyle. And as for the yeares ÿ the gresshopper, locuste, blassynge and caterpyller (my great hooste, which I sent amonge you) haue eaten vp, I shall restore them to you agayne: so ÿ ye shall haue ynough to eate, and be satisfied, and prayse ÿ name of the LORDE your God, that so maruaylously [illegible] dealte with you And my people [illegible] neuer be confounded ony more. Ye shall well knowe, ÿ I am in the myddest of Israel, and ÿ I am youre God: yee and that ther is none other: & my people shall nomore be broughte to confusion.

Leui.26.a. Deu.11.b. and.28.b

F [illegible] After this, will I poure out my spirite vpon al flesh: and your sonnes & your doughters shall prophecy: youre olde men shall dreame dreames & your yongemen shall se visions: Yee in those dayes I wyl poure out my spirete vpon seruauntes and maydens. I wyll shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneth: bloude and fyre and vapoure of smoke. The Sonne shalbe turned in to darcknesse, and the Moone in to bloude, before that great and notable daye of the LORDE come. And the tyme shall come, ÿ * who so euer calleth on the name of ÿ LORDE, shalbe saued. For vpō the mout Sion and at Jerusalem, ther shalbe a saluacion, lyke as the LORDE hath promysed: yee and amonge the other remnaunt whome ÿ LORD shal call.

The.iii. Chapter.

How the people are brought agayn and theyr enemies punyshed.

A For take hede: In those dayes & at the same tyme, when I turne agayne the captiuite of Juda and Jerusalem, I shall gather all people together, and brynge them in to the valley of Josaphat, and there wyll I reasō wt thē, because of my people & heretage of Israell, whome they haue scattred aboute in the nacions, & parted my lõde: yee they haue cast lottes for my people, the yonge mẽ haue they set in ẏ brodel house, and solde ẏ damsels for wyne, that they might haue to Amos.1.b. haue ye to do wt me? Wil ye defye me? well, yf ye wyll nedes defye me, I shall recõpence you, euen vpon youre heade, and that right shortly: for ye haue takẽ a waye my sylver and golde, my fayre and goodly yewels, and brought them in to youre gods houses. The children also of Juda and Jerusalem haue ye solde vnto the Grekes, that ye might brynge them farre from the borders of their owne contryes.

B Beholde therfore: I will rayse thẽ oute of the place, where ye haue solde Jere.50.c. thẽ, * and wyll [illegible] de you euen vpõ Abdis.1.c youre heade. Yo[illegible] sonnes and youre doughters wyll I sel thorow the hon-des of the children of Juda, & so they shall geue thẽ forthe to sell, vnto thẽ of Saba, a people of a farre cõtry: for the LORDE hym self hath sayd it. Cry out these thinges amõge the Gentiles, [illegible] clame warre, wake vp the giaũtes, let thẽ drawe nye, let them come vp all the Esa.2.a. lusty warryours of thẽ. * Make you sweardes of your plowe shares, & spea-res of your syckles and sythes. Let the weake man saye: I am stronge. Mus-tre you, and come, al ye Heythen round aboute: gather you together, there shall the LORDE laye all thy giaun-tes to the groũde. Let the people aryse, and get thẽ to the valley of Josaphat: Apo.14.d. for there wyll I syt, and iudge all Heithen rounde aboute. * Laye to youre sythes, for the haruest is rype: come, get you downe, the wynepresse is full: yee ẏ wynepresses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is waren greate.
C In the valley appoynted, there shalbe many, many people: for the daye of the LORDE is nye in the valley [illegible].2.b. appoynted * The Sonne & Moone [illegible].13.b. shall be darckened, and the starres shal

DE shall roare out of Sion, and crie out of Jerusalem, that the heauens & the earth shall quake withall. But the LORDE shalbe a defence vnto hys owne people, and a refuge for the chyldren of Israel. Thus shall ye knowe, that I the LORDE your God dwel vpon my holy mount of Sion. Then shall Jerusalem be holy, and ther shall no strãgers go thorow her ony more.

* At the same tyme shall ẏ moũtaynes Amos 9.[illegible] shal be inhabited for euermore, and Je rusalem from generacion to generaciõ: for I will not leaue their bloud shall dwel in Sion. K

C The ende of the prophet Joel.

The prophete Amos.

C He prophecyeth agaynst Damascus, Gasa, Tyre, Edom and Ammon.

The.first.Chapter.

These are ẏ sermons, that were shewed vn to Amos (which was one of the shepherdes at Thecua) vpon Israel, in the tyme of * Osias kynge of Ju 4.[illegible] da, and in the tyme of
* Jeroboam ẏ sonne of Joas kyng of 4.[illegible] Israel, two yeare before the earthquake. And he sayde: * The LORDE Jere.[illegible] shall roare out of Sion, and shewe Joel.[illegible] his voyce from Jerusalem: so that the pastures of the shepherdes shall be in a miserable case, & the toppe of Car mel dryed vp.
Thus sayeth the LORDE: for thre and foure wickednesses of * Da- Esa.17.[illegible] mascus, I wyll not spare her: because Jere.49.[illegible] they haue threshed Galaad with yron slades: But I wyll sende a fyre in to ẏ house of Hazael, ẏ same shall consume the palaces of Benadad. Thus wil I breake the barres of Damascus, and B roote out the inhabiter frõ the felde of Auen: and hym that holdeth the cepter, oute of the pleasaunt house: so that ẏ people shalbe dryuen out of fayre Syria, sayeth the LORDE. Thus say eth the LORDE: For thre and foure Amos 9.c wyckednesses of * Gaza, I wyll not spare her: because they make the preso-ners yet more captiue, and haue dryuẽ them in to the lande of Edom. Therfore wyl I sende a fyre in to the walles of Gaza, which shall deuoure hir houses. I wyll roote out them that dwell at Asdod, and hym that holdeth the cep ter of Ascalon, & stretch out myne hãde ouer Accaron, that the remnaũt of the Philistines shal perysh sayeth ẏ LOR DE. Thus sayeth the LORDE: For thre and foure wyckednesses of the cy-tie of * Tyre, I wyll not spare her: be cause they haue increased the captiuite of the Edomites, and haue not remem bred the * brotherly conuenaunt. Ther fore wyll I sende a fyre in to the wal-les of Tyre, that shall consume hir palaces.

C Thus sayeth the LORDE: For thre and foure wyckednesses of * Edõ I wyl not spare hym, because he ‡ persecuted his brother with the swearde, destroyed his mothers wombe, bare ha tred very longe, and so kepte indignacyon alwaye by hym. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre in to Theman, which shall deuoure the palaces of Bosra. Thus sayeth the LORDE: For thre and foure wyckednesses of the chyldren of * Ammon, I wyll not spare them: because they ripte vp the wemen great wt chylde in Galaad, to make the borders of theyr landes the wyder. Therfore I wyll kyndle a fyre in ẏ walles of Rab bath, that shall consume hir palaces, wt a great crye, in the daye of battayll, in tempest and in the daye of storme: so ẏ theyr kynge shall go in to captiuite, he and his prynces together, sayeth the LORDE.

The.ii.Chapter.

Punyshment vpon Moab, Juda & Israel,

B Thus sayeth ẏ LORDE: For thre & foure wycked-nesses of * Moab, I wyll not spare hym: because he brent the bones of ẏ kyng of Edom to asshes. Therfore wyll I sende a fyre in to Moab, which shal cõ sume the palaces of Carioth: so ẏ Mo ab shall perysh with a noyse, & ẏ sounde of a shawme. I wyll roote out ẏ iudge from amonge them, and slaye all his prynces with hym, sayeth the LORD.

Thus sayeth the LORDE: for thre & foure wyckednesses of * Juda, I wyll Mich. 2.b not spare hym: because he hath caste asyde the lawe of the LORDE, & not kepte his commaundementes: for why?
* they wolde nedes be deceaued with Jere.44.b ẏ lyes, that theyr forefathers folowed. Eze.20.c Therfore wyll I sende a fyre in to Juda, which shall consume the palaces of Jerusalem.

Thus sayeth the LORDE: For B thre and foure wyckednesses of Israel I wyll not spare hym: because he hath solde the ryghteous for monye, and the poore for shues. They tread vpõ poore mens heades in the dust of the earth, & croke the wayes of the meke. The sõne and the father go to the harlot, to disho noure my holy name: they lye besyde e-uery alter vpõ clothes takẽ to pledge, and in the house of theyr goddes they drynke the wyne of the oppressed. Yet destroyed I the * Amorite before thẽ Num.13.d that was as hye as the Cedre trees, and as stronge as the okes: notwithstã dynge I destroyed his frute frõ aboue, and his roote from vnder.

* Agayne, I brought you out of C the lande of Egipte, and led you .xl. yea Exo.14.c res thorow the wyldernes, ẏ ye myght Deu.8.a haue the Amorites lande in possession.
I raysed vp prophetes amonge youre chyldren, and absteyners amonge your yonge men. Is it not so, o ye chyldren of Israel, sayeth the LORDE? * But Num.6.a ye gaue the absteyners wyne to drynke * yee ye commaunded the prophetes, Jere.11.d sayenge: Prophecy not. Behold, I wyl crasshe you in sonder, lyke as a wayne crassheth, that is full of sheaues, so that the swyfte shall not escape, nother ẏe stronge be able to do ony thynge: no, ẏ giaunte shall not saue his owne lyfe.
The archer shal not abyde, & the swyft of foote shall not escape. The horsman shall not saue his lyfe, and he that is as manly of stomack as a giaunte, shal in that daye be fayne to runne his way naked sayeth the LORDE.

God warneth before he punyssheth.

A Heare, what ẏ LORDE spea keth vnto you (o ye chyldrẽ of Israel) namely, vnto all the trybes, whõ I brought out of Egipte, and sayde:

Deu.4.c and.32.b. *You only haue I accepted from al ÿ generacyons of the earth: therfore wyl I vyset you in your wyckednesses May twayne walke together excepte they be Job.6.a agreed amonge themselues? *Doth a lion roare in the wood, excepte he haue a pray? Or cryeth a lyons whelpe out of his denne, excepte he haue gottē som thynge? Doth a byrde fal in a snare vp pon the earth where no fouler is? Taketh a mā his snare vp from ÿ grōde, afore he catch somwhat? Crie they out Alarum with the trompet in the cytie, and the people not afrayed? Cōmeth ther eny plage in a cytie, without it be the LORDES doynge? Now doth B the LORD God no maner of thynge, but he telleth his secrete before vnto his seruauntes the prophetes. When a lyon roareth, who wyl not be afrayed?
Seynge then that the LORDE God hymselfe speaketh, who wyll not prophecy? Preach in the palaces at Asdod and in the palaces of the lande of E-gipte, and saye gather you together vp pon the mountaynes of Samaria, so shall ye se great murthure, and violent oppression amonge them: for why? they regarde not the thynge that is ryghte, sayeth the LORDE, they gather to gether euel gotten goodes, and laye vp robbery in theyr houses.

Therfore, thus sayeth the LOR-C DE God. This lande shalbe troubled and beseged rōde aboute, thy strēgth shalbe pluckte from the, and thy palaces robbed. Thus sayeth the LORD: lyke as an hyrdman taketh two legges or a pece of an eare oute of the Lyons mouth: Euen so the chyldren of Israel (that dwell in Samaria, hauyng theyr couches in the corner, and theyr beddes at Damascus) shalbe pluckte awaye.
*Heare and beare recorde in ÿ house 4.Re.16 and.17. of Jacob (sayeth the LORDE God of hoostes) that when I begynne to vp set the wyckednesse of Israel, I wyll vpset the alters at Bethel also: so that the hornes of the aulter shalbe broken of, and fall to the grounde. As for the wynterhouse & Sommerhouse I wyll smyte them downe: and the houses of yuery, yee & many other houses shal pe rysshe, & be destroyed sayeth ÿ LORD

The.iiii. Chapter.

He sheweth them theyr wyckednesse and the plages for the same, and exhor-teth them to amende.

Heare this worde, o ye fat A kyne, that be vpon the hyll of Samaria: ye ÿ do poore men wronge, and oppresse ÿ nedy: ye that saye to your lordes: Brynge hyther, let vs drynke.
Therfore the LORDE hath sworne by his holynesse: The dayes shall come vpō you, that ye shalbe lyfte vpon spea res, and your posterite caryed away in fysher pannes. Ye shall get you out at the gappes one after an another, and in Hermon shal ye be cast away, sayeth the LORDE.

Ye came to *Bethel for to worke B vngracyousnesse, and haue increased Josu. your synnes at *Galgall. Ye brought 3.Reg. your sacrifices in the mornyng, & your Osee. tythes vnto the thyrde daye. Ye made Osee. a thankofferyng of leuen, ye promysed frewylofferynges, and proclamed thē.
Such lust had ye, o ye chyldren of Israel, sayeth the LORDE God. Therfore haue I geuen you ydle teth in all your cyties, and scarcenenesse of bread in all your places: yet wyl ye not turne vnto me, sayeth the LORDE. When ther were but thre monethes vnto the haruest. *I withelde the rayne from you: yee I rayned vpon one cytie, and Deu. not vpon another: one pece of grounde and.
was moystured with rayne, & ÿ grōd Jere. that I rayned not vpon, was drye. Joel.
Wherfor two (yee thre) cyties came vn to one, to drynke water: but they were not satisfied, yet wyl ye not turne vnto me sayeth the LORDE.

I haue smytten you with drouth & C blastynge: and loke how many orchardes, vynyardes, fyggetrees, and olyue trees ye had: the caterpiller hath eaten them vp. But yet wyll ye not turne vn to me, sayeth the LORDE. Pestilēce haue I sente amonge you, *as I dyd Exo. in Egipte: youre yonge men haue I slayne with the sworde, & caused your horses be taken captiue: I made ÿ styn kynge sauoure of your tentes to come vp in to your nosethrels: Yet wyl ye not turne vnto me, sayeth the LORDE.
Some of you haue I ouerthrowen, *as I ouerthrewe Sodome & Go Gene. morre so that ye were as a brāde plukt 2.Pet. out of the fyre. Yet wyll ye not turne vnto me, sayeth the LORDE. Therfore, thus wyll I handle the agayne (o Israel) yee euen thus wyl I hādle the:
Make the ready then to mete thy God o Israel. For lo, he maketh the moun thynes, he ordeneth the wynde, he sheweth man what he is aboute to do: he maketh the mornynge and the dark nesse, he treadeth vpõ the hye places of the earth: the LORDE God of hoos tes is his name.

The.v. Chapter.

He complayneth for the captyuyte of Israel, and sheweth them Gods B goodnesse.

Heare this worde (o ye hou se of Israel) & why? I must make this mone for you:
The virgin Israel shal fal and neuer ryse vp agayne: she shall be cast downe vpon hir owne grounde, and no man shal helpe her vp For thus saieth the LORDE God:
Where as ther dwelt a.M. in one citie, ther shalbe left scarce an.C. therin: and where ther dwelt an C. ther shal scarce ten be left for the house of Israel. Ne uertheles, thus saieth the LORDE vnto the house of Israel: Seke after me, and ye shall lyue, but seke not after Bethel. Come not at Galgal, & go not to Bersaba: for Galgal shall be caried awaye captyue, and Bethel shall come to naught. Seke the LORDE that ye maye lyue: lest ŷ house of Joseph be brent with fyre and cõsumed, and lest ther be none to quench Bethel.
Ye turne the lawe to wormwood, and cast downe rightuousnes vnto the geth downe the stronge holde: but they owe him euel wyll, that reproueth thē

The. vii. Chapter.

The punyshemente of the people shewed by diuerse visions.

The LORDE God shew- A ed me suche a vysyon: Be-holde, ther stode one that made greshoppers, euen when the corne was shuhys shepe. Nowe whã they vndertoke to eate vppe all the grene thynges in ỹ londe I sayde: O LORDE God, be mercyfull I beseke the: who shulde els helpe vp Jacob that is brought so low?

So the LORDE, was gracyous therin, and the LORDE sayde: well, it shall not be. Agayne, the LORDE shewed me thys vysyon: beholde, the LORDE God called the fyre to pu-nyshe wythall, and it deuoured ỹ great depe: yee it consumed a parte already.
Then sayde I: O LORDE God, holde thy honde: for who shulde els helpe vppe Jacob, that is broughte so lowe? So the LORDE was mercyfull therin, and the LORDE God sayde: Well, it shall not be.
Morouer, he shewed me thys vy- B vpon a plastered wal, & (had) a masons trowell in hys hande. And the LOR-DE sayde vnto me: Amos, what seyst thou? I answered: a masons trowell.

Then sayde the LORDE: beholde, I wyll laye the trowell amonge my people of Israell, & wyll nomore spare them, but the hyghe hyll chappels of Isaac muste be layed wayste, and the churches of Israell made desolate: * & mournynge wyll I sende them, * as Iere.6. is made vpon an onely begotten sonne, and they shall haue a myserable ende.

Beholde, the tyme commeth (sayeth the LORDE God) that I shall sende an hunger in to the earth: not the hunger of bread, nor the thirst of water: but an hunger to heare the worde of the LORDE: so that they shall go from y one see to the other, yee from y north vnto the east, runnynge aboute to seke the worde of the LORDE, and shall not fynde it. In that tyme, shal y fayre there to byte them. Yf they go awaye before theyre enemyes in to captyuyte, then shall I commaunde the swearde, there to slaye them.

Thus wyll I sette myne eyes vp-

The ende of the prophet Abdy.

The prophete Jonas.

God sendeth Jonas vnto Niniue, he flyeth, and is cast in to the see.

The worde of ẏ LOR A DE came vnto * Jo 4.Re.14.c nas the sonne of Ami thay, sayenge: * Aryse Jon.3.a and get the to Niniue that * great citie: Gen.10.b and preach vnto thē, how that * theyr wic Gene.18.d kednesse is come before me. And Jonas made hym redy to flye vnto Tharsis from the presence of the LORD and gat hym downe to Joppa: where he fōude a shippe, ready for to go vnto Tharsis. So he payed his fare, & wen te aborde, that he myght go with them vnto Tharsis, from the presence of the LORDE. But the LORDE hurled a greate wynde in to the see, & ther was a mightie tempest in the see: so ẏ the shippe was in ieoperdy of goynge in peces. Then the maryners were afrayde, and cried euery man vnto hys God, & ẏ goodes that were in ẏ shippe they cast in to the see, to lighten it of them. But Jonas gat hym vnder the hatches, where he layed hym downe & slombred.

So the master of the shippe ca[...] to hym and sayde vnto hym: why sl[...] perest thou? Up, call vpon thy God, [...] yf God (happly) wyll thynke vpon vs, that we perysshe not. And they sayde one to another: Come, let vs cast lottes, that we maye knowe, for whose Iosu.7.c. cause we are thus troubled. * And so they cast lottes, and the lot fel vpon Jonas. Then sayde they vnto hym: Tell vs, for whose cause are we thus troubled? what is thyne occupacion? whence commest thou? what contrye man art thou, and of what nacyõ? He answered them: I am an Ebrue, and I feare the LORDE God of heauen, which made both the see and drye lõde.

Then were the mẽ exceadyngly afray-ed, and sayde vnto hym: Why dyddest thou so? (for they knewe that he was fled frõ the face of ỹ LORD, because he hadde tolde thẽ) and sayde moreouer vnto hym. What shall we do vnto the,
that the see may ceasse from troublinge C vs? (for ỹ see wrought and was troublous) he answered thẽ: Take me, and cast me in to the see, so shall it let you be in rest: for I wote, it is for my sake, that this greate tempest is come vpon you.

Neuerthelesse, ỹ men assayed with rowynge to brynge the shippe to lõde: but it wolde not be, because the see wrought so, and was so troublous a-gaynst them. Wherfore they cried vnto Deut.21.b the LORDE, and sayde: * O LOR DE, let vs not perysh for this mans death, nother laye thou innocẽt bloude vnto oure charge: for thou (o LOR-DE) hast done, euen as thy pleasure was. So they toke Jonas, and cast hym in to ỹ see, & the see lefte ragynge.
And the men feared the LORDE exceadyngly, doynge sacrifices, & ma-kynge vowes vnto the LORDE.

The.ii. Chapter.

¶ A fysh swaloweth vp Jonas, which crieth vnto God, and prayseth hym, & the fysh casteth him oute agayne vpon the londe.

BUt the LORDE prepa-
A red a greate fyshe to swalow vp Jonas. * So was Mat.12.d Jonas in the bely of the fysh, thre dayes, and thre nyghtes. And Jonas prayed vnto the LORDE his God, out of the fysshes bely, and sayed.
Ps.119.a. * In my trouble I called vnto the LORDE, and he herde me: out of ỹ bely of hell I cried, and thou herdest my voyce. Thou dyddest cast me dwon depe in the myddest of the see, and the floude compassed me aboute: yee * all Psa.41.b thy wawes & rowles of water went ouer me, I thought that I had bene cast awaye out of thy syght: but I wyl yet agayne loke towarde thy holy temple. B The waters compassed me, euen to the very soule: the depe laye aboute me, & the wedes were wrapte aboute myne heade. I wente down to the botome of the hylles, & was barred in with earth for euer. But thou (o LORDE my God) hast brought vp my lyfe agayne out of corrupciõ. When my soule faynted wythin me, I thought vpon the LORDE: and my prayer came in vnto the, euẽ in to thy holy temple. They that holde of vayne vanytyes, wyl forsake hys mercy. But I wyll do the sacrifice & the voyce of thankesgeuynge and wyll paye that I haue vowed: for why? saluacion commeth of the LOR-DE. And the LORDE spake vnto ỹ fysh, and it cast out Jonas agayne vpõ the drye londe.

The.iii. Chapter.

¶ God sendeth Jonas agayne to Nyniue, to shewe thẽ the punyshment for to come, yf they wyll not repent: they amende, and God is mercifull to them.

THen came the worde of ỹ B LORDE vnto Jonas a-gayne, sayinge: * vp, & get Jone.1.a the to Niniue that greate citie, & preach vnto them ỹ preachinge, which I bad the. So Jonas arose, and wente to Niniue at the LORDES commaundement. Niniue was a greate citie vnto God, namely, of thre dayes iourney. And Jonas wente to, and entred in to the citie: euẽ a dayes iourney, and cried, sayenge: Ther are yet.xl. dayes, and then shall Niniue be ouerthrowen. * And ỹ peo- Esa.37.a ple of Niniue beleued God, and proclamed fastynge, and arayed them selues in sackcloth, as well the greate as the small of them. And the tydinges came vnto the kynge of Niniue, which arose out of his seate, and put his apparel of, and put on sackcloth, and sate hym downe in asshes.

And it was cried, and commaunded in Niniue, by the authorite of the kynge, and his lordes, sayenge: * Se Mat.12.d that nother man or beast, oxe nor shepe, Luk.11.d tayst ought at all: and that they nother fede nor drynke water: but put in sackcloth both man and beaste, and Jer.18.a crye myghtelye vnto god: * yee se that euerye man turne from hys euel way, and from ẏ wyckednesse, that he hath in hande. Who can tell? God maye turne, and repente, and ceasse from his fearce wrath, that we perysshe not. And whan God sawe theyr workes, howe they turned from theyr wicked waies: Jer.18.b * he repented on the euell, whiche he sayde he wolde do vnto them, and dydde it not.

B And as concernynge the prophetes that deceaue my people, thus ẏ LOR

DE, full of iudgment and boldnesse: to shewe the house of Jacob theyr wyc kednesse, and the house of Israel theyr synne.

C O heare thys ye rulers of the hou= heare the punyshment of of the LORDE ye mountaynes, and what the LORDE requyreth of the:

Namely, to do ryght, to haue pleasure

C Therfore I wyll take in honde to punysh the, and to make ye desolate, because of thy synnes. * Thou shalt eate, & not haue ynough: yet thou shalt brynge thy self down. The.vii.Chapter.

The somme of the thynges before sayde. The litle flocke of the faythful.

A WO is me: I am become as one, that goeth a gleenynge in to the haruest. Ther are no mo grapes to eate, yet wolde I fayne (with al my harte) haue of the best frute. * Ther is not a godly man vpon earth, ther is not one righteous amonge men They laboure all to shed bloude, and euerye man hunteth his brother to death: yet they saye they do well, when they do euell. As the prynce wyll, so saieth the iudge: that he maye do hym a pleasure agayne. The greate man speaketh what his harte despyteth, and the hearers alowe hym. The best of them is but as a thistle, and the moost righteous of them is but as a brere in the hedge. But when the daye of thy preachers commeth, that thou shalt be vysited, then shall they be waysted awaye. * Let no man beleue his frende, nor put his confydence in a prynce. Kepe the porte of thy mouth, from her that lyeth in thy bosome: * for the sonne shall put his father to dishonoure, the doughter shall ryse agaynst hyr mother, the doughter in lawe agaynst hyr mother in lawe: and a mans foes shalbe euē they of his owne housholde.

Neuerthelesse I wyll loke vp vnto the LORDE, I wyl pacyently abyde God my sauioure: my God shall heare me. * O thou enemye of myne, reioyce not at my fall, for I shal get vp agayn: and though I syt in darcknesse, yet the LORDE is my lyght. I wyll beare ye punyshment of the LORD (for why? I haue offended hym) tyll he syt in iudgement vpon my cause, and se that I haue ryght. He wyl brynge my forth to the lyght, and I shall se his ryghteousnesse. She that is myne enemye shall loke vpon it, and be confoūded, which now sayeth: * Where is thy LORDE God? Myne eyes shal beholde her, whē she shalbe troden downe, as the clay in the stretes. * The tyme wyl come, that thy gappes shalbe made vp, & the lawe shall go abrode: and at that tyme shall they come vnto the, from Assur vnto ye stronge cyties, and from the stronge cyties vnto the ryuer: from the one see to the other, from the one mountayne to the other. B Pro.17.a 4.Re.19.a Amos.9.d

C Notwithstandynge the lande must be waisted, because of them that dwell therin, and for the frutes of theyr own ymaginacyons. Therfore fede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thyne heretage whiche dwell desolate in the wood: that they maye be fedde vpon ye mount Carmel, Basā and Galaad as afore tyme. Maruaylous thynges wyl I shew them, * lyke as whē they came out of Egipte. This shall the Heythen se, and be ashamed of all theyr power: * so that they shall laye theyr hande vpon theyr mouth, and stoppe theyr eares. * They shall lycke the duste lyke a serpent, and as the wormes of ye earth, that tremble in theyr holes. They shall be afrayed of the LORDE our God, and they shall feare the. Exo.14.a Job.39.d Gene.3.c

Where is ther such a God as thou that pardonest wyckednesse, and forgeuest the offences of the remnaūt of thyne heretage? He kepeth not his wrath for euer. And why? his delyte is to haue cōpassion: * he shal turne agayne, and be mercyfull to vs: he shal put downe our wickednesses, & cast al our synnes into the bottome of ye see. the hyghe preste, sayenge: Thus speaketh the LORDE of hoostes, and sayeth: Thys people doth saye: The tyme is not yet come to buylde vp the LORDES house. Then spake the LORDE by the prophet Aggeus, & sayed: * Ye your selues can fynd tyme — Iere. to dwell in syled houses, and shall this house lye wayste? Consydre now your owne wayes in youre hartes (sayeth yͤ LORDE of hoostes) * ye sowe much — Leui.

house: * that it maye be acceptable vn — 3. Reg. to me, and that I maye shewe myne ho noure, sayeth the LORDE. Ye loked for muche, and lo, it is come to lytle: and though ye brynge it home, yet do I blowe it awaye. And why so sayeth the LORDE of hoostes? Even because that * my house lieth so waist, and ye runne euerye man vnto hys owne house. Wherfore the heauen is forbidden to geue you eny dew, & the earth is forbidde to geue you encrease, Deu.28.d * I haue called for a drouth, both vpō the londe, and vpon the mountaynes, vpon corne, vpō wyne, and vpon oyle, vpon euery thinge that the grounde bryngeth forth, vpon men and vpon boure.

C Now when zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, & Jesua the sonne of Josedec the hye prest with the remnaunt of the people, herde ye voyce of ye LOR DE their God, and the wordes of the prophet Aggeus (like as ye LORDE their God had sent him) the people dyd feare the LORDE. Thē Aggeus the LORDES angell sayed in ye LOR-DES message vnto ye people: * I am with you, sayeth the LORDE. And the LORDE waked vp the spirete of zorobabel the prince of Juda, & the spre te of Jesua ye sonne of Josedec the hye prest, and the sprete of the remnaunt of all the people: that they came & laboured, in the house of the LORDE of hoostes theyr God.

The.ii. Chapter.

He geueth the rulers a corage. Of the ornamentes and glory of the seconde temple: wherby is vnderstonde the churche of the faithfull.

A Vpon the xxiiii. daye of the firste moneth, in the secōde yeare of kynge Darius, ye xxi. daye of the seuenth mo neth, came ye worde of the LORDE by the prophet Aggeus sayenge: speake to zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel prynce of Juda, and to Jesua the sonne of Josedec the hye prest, and to the resydue of the people & saye:
* Who is left amonge you, that sawe thys house in his firste bewtye? But what thynke ye nowe by it? Is it not in youre eyes, euen as though it were nothinge? Neuerthelesse * be of good cheare, o zorobabel (sayeth the LORDE) be of good comforte, o Jesua thou sonne of Josedec, hye prest: take good hartes vnto you also, all ye people of the londe, saieth the LORDE of hoostes, & do accordinge to the worde * for I am with you, saieth LOR-DE of hoostes like as I agreed with you, when ye came out of the londe of Egipte: and my sprete shalbe amonge you, feare ye not.

For thus sayeth the LORDE of B hoostes * Yet once more wyll I shake Heb 12.d. heauen & earth the see & the drye londe: Yee * I wyll moue all Heythen, & the Esa. 60.a comforte of all Heithen shal come, and so wyll I fyl this house with honoure, sayeth the LORDE of hoostes * The Deut.8.b. syluer is myne, and the golde is myne, sayeth ye LORDE of hoostes. Thus the glory of the last house shalbe greater thē the first, sayeth the LORDE of hoostes. And in this place wyll I geue peace, sayeth the LORDE of hoostes.

The.xxiiii. daye of the .ix. moneth in the seconde yeare of kynge Darius, came the worde of the LORDE vnto ye prophet Aggeus sayenge: Thus saieth the LORDE God of hostes: Are the prestes cōcernynge the lawe, and saye: Yf one beare * holy flesh in his cote lap Jere. 11.c pe, & with his lappe do touch the bread, potage, wyne, oyle, or eny other meate: shal it be holy also? The prestes answe red, and sayde: No. Thē sayd Aggeus: Now yf one being defiled by a dead car case, touch eny of these shal it also be vn clene? The prestes gaue answere and sayde: * Yee, it shall be vnclene. Then Leui.5.a Aggeus answered, and sayde: Euen so and.11.d is thys people and this nacion before Nu.19.b me, sayeth the LORDE: and so are all the workes of theyr hondes, yee and all that they offre, is vnclene.

And now (I praye you) consydre C from this daye forth, and how it hath gone with you afore: or euer ther was layed one stone vpon another in the temple of the LORDE: * ye when Agg.1.a. ye came to a corne heape of.xx. bushels ther were scarce ten: and that when ye came to ye wynepresse for to poure out.
L. pottes of wyne, ther were scarce.xx.
For I smote you with heate, blastynge and hayle stones in all the laboures of youre handes: yet was ther none of you, that wolde turne vnto me sayeth the LORDE. Considre thē from this daye forth and afore, namely, from the xxiiii daye of the .ix. moneth, vnto the daye that the fundacion of the LOR-DES temple was layed: Marke it well, * Is not the sede yet in ye barne? Zacha. 8.b. haue not the vynes, the fyggetrees, the pomgranates, and olyue trees bene yet vnfrute full: but from this daye forth I shall make them to prospere.

Moreouer, the .xxiiii. daye of the moneth came the worde of the LORDE vnto Aggeus agayne, sayenge: Speake to Zorobabel the prynce of Juda, and saye: I wyll shake both heauē and earth, and ouerthrowe the seate of the kyngdomes, yee and destroye the mightie kyngdom of the Heythen. I wyll ouerthrowe the charrettes, and those that syt vpon them, so that both horse and man shall fall downe, euery man thorow hys neighbours swearde. And as for the, o Zorobabel (saieth the LORDE of hoostes) thou sonne of Salathiel, my seruaunt, I will take ye (sayeth the LORDE) at the same tyme, and make the as a seale, for I haue chosen the, sayeth ye LORDE of hoostes.

¶ The prophete Zacharias.

The fyrst Chapter.

¶ He exhorteth the people, not to be disobedient to the voyce of God, as theyr forefathers were, but to conuerte: and he sheweth them ioyfull thinges in visions.

A IN the eight moneth of ye seconde yeare of kynge Darius, came the worde of ye LORDE vnto * Zachary Mat. 23. c. the sonne of Barachyas, the sonne of Addo the prophet, sayenge: The LORDE hath bene sore displeased at your forefathers. And saye thou vnto them: thus sayeth the LORDE of Jere. 31. c hoostes: * Turne you vnto me (sayeth Mala. 3. b ye LORDE of hoostes) & I wyl turne me vnto you, sayeth the LORDE Psa. 77. a of hoostes. * Be not ye lyke youre fore Jere. 44. a fathers, vnto whom ye prophetes cried afore tyme, sayenge: Thus sayeth the Ezec. 32. b LORDE God of hoostes: * Turne Osee. 14. a ne you from youre euell wayes, and Tobi. 13. b from youre wicked ymaginacions.
‡ Jere. 35. c ‡ But they wold not heare, nor regarde and. 44. a. me, sayeth the LORDE. What is now become of your forefathers & the prophetes? are they yet stil alyue? But dyd not my wordes, & statutes (which I commaunded by my seruauntes the prophetes) touch youre forefathers? Vpō thys, they gaue answere and sayde: Lyke as the LORDE of hoostes deuysed to do vnto vs, according to our owne wayes and ymaginacions, euen so hath he dealte with vs.

Vpon the .xxiiii. daye of the .xi. moneth (whiche is the moneth Sebat) in B the secōde yeare of Darius, came the worde of ye LORDE vnto Zachary ye sonne of Barachias, the sonne of Addo the prophete, sayenge: I sawe by night and lo, ther sat one vpō a * reade horse Zach. 6. a. and stode stil amonge the myrte trees, Apoc. 6. a.
that were beneth vpon the grounde & behynde hym were ther reade, speckled and whyte horses. Then sayde I: O my LORDE, what are these? And the angell that talked with me, sayed vnto me: I will shewe the what these be. And the man that stode amonge ye myrte trees, answered & sayde: These are they, whome the LORDE hath sent to go thorow the worlde. And they answered the angel of the LORDE, that stode amonge the Myrte trees, and saide: We haue gone thorow the worlde, and beholde, all the worlde dwell at ease, & are carlesse.

Then the LORDES angel gaue answere and sayde: O LORDE of hoostes, how longe wylt thou be vnmercifull to Jerusalē and to the cities of Juda? * with whom thou hast bene Jere. 25. b displeased now these .lxx. yeares? So and. 29. b the LORDE gaue a louynge and a con 2. Pa. 36. d fortable answere, vnto the angel that talked with me. And the angel that cōmuned with me, sayde vnto me: Crie C thou, & speake, thus saieth ye LORDE of hoostes: I am exceadynge gelous ouer Jerusalem & Syon, & sore displeased at the carlesse Heythen: for where as I was but a litle angrye, they dyd theyr best that I might destroye them. Therfore thus sayeth the LORDE: * I wyll turne me agayne in mercy to Zacha. 8. a warde Jerusalem, so that my house shalbe buylded in it, saieth the LORDE of hoostes: yee & the plommet shal be layed abrode in Jerusalem, saieth ye LORDE of hoostes.

Crie also, & speake: thus saieth the LORDE of hoostes: My cities shall be in good prosperite agayne, ye LORDE shal yet conforte Sion, and chose

Jerusalem. Then lyfte I vppe myne eyes and sawe, and beholde, foure hor-nes. And I sayde vnto the angell, that talked wyth me: what be these? he an-Dan.7.d swered me me: These are the * hornes, which haue scattred Juda, Israel and Jerusalem abrode. And the LORDE shewed me foure carpenters. Then sayd I: What wyl these do? he answe red, and sayde: Those are the hornes, whiche haue so strowed Juda abrode, that no man darste lyfte vp hys heade: But these are come to fraye them awaye, and to caste oute the hornes of the Gentyles, which lyfte vppe theyre horne ouer the londe of Juda, to scat-tre it abrode.

The.ii.Chapter.

Visions signifyenge the delyueraũ in hys hande. Then sayde I: whether goeste thou?

And he sayde vnto me: To measure Je rusalem, that I maye se how long and howe brode it is. And beholde, the angel that talked with me, went his way forth. Then wente ther oute another angell to mete hym, & sayde vnto hym: Runne, speake to thys yongeman, and saye: Jerusalẽ shal be inhabyted wythoute onye wall, for the verye multytu-

Esa.28.c ✠ Be glad, and reioyce, o dough-ter Syon: for lo, * I am come to dwel in the myddeste of the, sayeth ÿ LOR-DE. At the same tyme ther shall many Heythen cleue to the LORDE, and shall be my people. Thus wyll I dwel in the myddeste of the, and thou shalte knowe, that the LORDE of hoostes hath sent me vnto the. The LORDE shall haue Juda in possessyon for hys parte in the holye grounde, and shall Soph.1.d chose Jerusalem yet agayne. * Let all fleshe be styll before the LORDE, for he is rysen out of hys holy place.

A Vision in Jesua, signifyenge the LORDE Jesus oure hyghe preste.

AND he shewed me Jesua ÿ A hyghe preste, stondynge before the angel of the LOR Psal.108.a DE, * and Satan stode Math.4.a at thys ryghte hande to re- Jude.1.b syste hym. And the LORDE saide vnto Satan: The LORDE reproue the (thou Satan) yee the LORDE that hath chosen Jerusalem, reproue the. Is not this a brande taken oute of the fyre? Nowe Jesua was clothed in vnclene raymente, and stode before the angell: which answered and sayde vnto those, that stode before hym: take awaye the foule clothes from hym. And vnto hym he sayd: Beholde, I haue ta ken awaye thy synne from the, & wyll decke the wyth chaunge of raymente.
He sayde morouer: sette a fayre myter vpon his heade. So they sette a fayre myter vpon his heade, and put on clothes vppon hym, and the angell of the LORDE stode there.
Then the angel of the LORDE B testyfyed vnto Jesua, and spake, thus sayeth the LORDE of hoostes: Yf thou wylt walke in my wayes, & kepe my watch: thou shalte rule my house, and kepe my courtes, and I wyll geue the place among these that stond here.
Heare o Jesua thou hyghe preste, thou and thy frendes that dwell before the, for they are wõderous people. Behold I wyll brynge forthe the * braunch of Esay.4.a my seruaunte: for lo, the ‡ stone that I Jere.23.a haue layed before Jesua: vpõ one stone and.33.c hoostes) and take awaye the synne of 1.Pet.2.a that londe in one daye. Then shall eue-ry man call for hys neghboure vnder the vyne and vnder the fygge tree, sayeth the LORDE of hoostes.

The.iiii.Chapter.

¶ Another vysyon, wherin zorobabel is conforted wyth hys lytle nombre of people. The ryghte mysterye herof belongeth vnto Christ.

A AND the angell that talked wyth me came agayne and waked me vppe (as a man that is raysed oute of hys slepe) and sayde vnto me: What seyste thou? And I sayde: I haue loked, and beholde: a candelstycke all of golde, wyth a bool vppon it and hys.vii.lampes therin, and Apoc.11.a. vpō euery lampe.vii.stalkes: And * ii. olyue trees therby, one vpon the right syde of the bool, and the other vpon ÿ lefte syde. So I answered, and spake to the angell that talked wyth me, say-enge: O my lorde, what are these? The angell that talked wyth me, answered and sayde vnto me: knoweste thou not what these be? And I sayde: No my lorde. He answered, and sayd vnto me: Thys is the worde of the LORDE Esay.11.a vnto zorobabell, sayeng: * Nother tho rowe an hooste of men, nor thorowe strengthe, but thorowe my sprete, sayeth the LORDE of hoostes. What arte thou (thou greate mountayne) before zorobabel? thou muste be made eauen. And he shall brynge vppe the fyrst Esay.82.c * stone, so that men shal crye vnto him good lucke, good lucke.
B Morouer, the worde of the LOR Phil.1.a DE came vnto me, sayenge: * The handes of zorobabell haue layed ÿ fun dacyon of thys house, hys handes also Deut.18.d shall fynyshe it: * that ye maye knowe howe the LORDE of hoostes hath sente me vnto you. For he that hathe bene despysed a lytle season, shall reioy ce, whan he seyth the tynne weyghte in zorobabels hand. The.vii.eyes are the LORDES, whiche go thorowe the whole worlde. Then answered I, and sayde vnto hym: What are these two olyue trees vppon the ryghte and lefte syde of the candelstycke? I spake mo-reouer, and sayde vnto hym: what be these.ii olyue braūches which (thorow the two golden pypes) emptye themsel ues in to the golde? He answered me, and sayde: Knoweste thou not what these be? And I sayde: No, my lorde.
Apoc.11.a Then sayde he: * These are the two olyue braunches, that stonde befor the ruler of the whole earth.

¶ The wrath of God for the synnes of the people.

SO I turned me lyftyng vp A myne eyes, and loked, and behold, a flienge boke. And he said vnto me: what seist thou? I answered I se a flyenge boke of.xx.cubites longe and.x cubites brode. Then sayde he vnto me: Thys is the curse, that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: For al theues shal be iudged after thys boke, and al swerers shall be iudged accordynge to the same. * I wyll bryng it forth (sayeth ÿ 2.Ces.1 LORDE of hoostes) so that it shall come to the house of the thefe, and to the house of him, that falsely sweareth by my name, and shall remayne in hys house, & consume it, wyth ÿ tymbre & stones therof. Then the angell that tal ked wyth me, wente forthe, and sayde vnto me; lyfte vppe thyne eyes and se, what thys is that goeth forth. And I sayde: what is it? He answered: this is a measure goynge oute. He sayde mo-reouer: Euen thus are they (that dwell vpon the whole earthe) to loke vppon.
And beholde, ther was lyfte vppe B a talente of leade: and lo, a woman sat in the myddeste of the measure. And he sayde: Thys is vngodlynesse. So he cast her in to the myddeste of the measure, and threwe the lompe of leade vp in to an hole. Then lyfte I vp myne eyes, and loked: and beholde, ther came oute.ii.women, and the wynde was in theyre wynges (for they hadde winges lyke the wynges of a Storke) and they lyfte vppe the measure betwixte the earth and the heauen. Then spake I to the angel, that talked with me: why-ther wyll these beare the measure?
And he sayde vnto me: In to the londe of * Synear, to buylde them an house, Gen.10. whiche whan it is prepared, the measure shall be sette there in his place.

¶ A vysyon, wherein is declared the almyghty power of God, whiche geueth peace, or warre at hys pleasure. A MOrouer I turned me, lyftynge vppe myne eyes, and loked, & beholde, ther cam iiii.charrettes out from be twixte two hylles, whiche hilles were of brasse. In ẏ fyrst charret Zach.1.b were * reade horse, In ẏ second charret Apo.6.a were blacke horse. In the thirde char-ret were whyte horse , In the fourth charret were horses of diuerse colours and stronge. Then spake I, and sayde vnto the angell that talked with me: O lord, what are these? The angel answered, and saide vnto me: These are Jer.4.b the.iiii. * wyndes of the heauen, which be come forth to stonde before the ruler of all the earth . That with the blacke horse went in to the londe of ẏ north, & the whyte folowed thẽ, & the speckled horses wente forth towarde the south.

These horses were very stronge , and went out : and sought to go and take theyr yourney ouer the whole earth.
And he sayde: get you hẽce, and go tho-row the worlde. So they wẽte thorow out the worlde, Then cried he vpõ me, & spake vnto me sayeng: Behold, these that go towarde the north c, shall still my wrath in the north contry.

B And the worde of ẏ LORD came vnto me, sayenge : Take of the preso-ners that are come from Babilon: namely, Helday, Tobias, and Idaia: and come thou the same daye, and go in to the house of Iosias ẏ sonne of Sopho ny Thẽ take golde and syluer, & make crownes therof , & set them vpon the heade of Jesua the sonne of Josedec ẏ hye prest, and speake vnto him: Thus saieth the LORD of hoostes: Behol Zach.3.b de, the mã whose name is ẏ * braunch, and he that shall springe vp after him Psal.126.a * shall buylde vp the tẽple of ẏ LOR-

Apoc.4.b temple of ẏ LORD. * He shal beare and.5.b the prayse, he shall syt vpon the LOR DES trone, and haue the dominaciõ, Psal.109.a * A preste shal he be also vpon hys Heb.5.6.7 trone , and a peaceable counsell shalbe and.8.9.10 betwixte thẽ both . And the crownes shal be in the temple of the LORDE. for a remembraunce vnto Helẽ, Tobias, Idaia, and Hen the sonne of Sophony. And suche as be farre of, shall come and buylde ẏ temple of ẏ LOR-DE: that ye maye knowe, how that ẏ LORDE of hoostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shal come to passe, yf ye will herken diligently vnto the voyce of the LORDE your God.

¶ What the true fast is: namely, to ke-pe iudgement and iustice, a man to do good to hys neghboure , to defende the wedowe and the fatherlesse, to do no man wronge. &c.

IT happened also in the A fourth yeare of kyng Darius, that the worde of the LORDE came vnto zachary in the fourth day of ẏ.ix. moneth , whiche is called Casleu: what tyme as Sarosar & Rogemelech and the men that were with them sent vnto Bethel for to praye ẏ LORDE: and that they shulde saye vnto the pres tes, which were in ẏ house of ẏ LOR DE of hoostes , and to the prophetes: Shulde I wepe in the * fyfte moneth, 4.Re.25.b and absteyne, as I haue done now cer-tayne yeares? Then came the worde of the LORDE of hoostes vnto me, sayenge: Speake vnto all the people of ẏ londe, and to the prestes, & saye: Whẽ ye fasted and mourned in the v. & * vii 4.Re 25.b moneth (now thys lxx yeares) dyd ye Jere.41.a faste vnto me? Whẽ ye dyd eate also & drinke, dyd ye not eate and drynk for your owne selues? Are not these ẏ wor des, which the LORD spake by hys prophetes afore tyme, when Ierusalẽ was yet inhabited and welthy, she and the cities rounde about her: when ther dwelt men, both towarde ye south and in the playne contryes?

And the worde of ẏ LORD came B vnto zachary, sayenge : Thus sayeth the LORDE of hoostes : * Execute Exo.22.c true iudgement: shewe mercy & louyng Leui.19.c kyndnesse, euerye man to his brother: Job.24.a Do the wydowe , the fatherlesse , the Jere.7.a straunger, and poore no wrong, and let zach.8.c no man ymagen euell agaynste hys bro ther in his hart. * Neuertheles they Jere.7.c wolde not take hede, but turned theyr backes, and stopped theyr eares, ẏ they shulde not heare. Yee they made theyr hartes as an Adamant stone, lest they shulde heare ẏ lawe & wordes * which 2.Pe.1.d the LORD of hoostes sente vnto thẽ in hys holy sprete by ẏ prophetes afore tyme. Wherfore the LORDE of hoostes was very wroth at them: and thus is it come to passe, that * like as Jere.11.b he spake and they wolde not heare: euẽ so they cried , and I wolde not heare (sayeth the LORDE of hoostes) but scattered them amonge all Gentyles, whome they knewe not . Thus the londe was made so desolate, that ther trauayled noman in it, nother to nor fro: for ẏ pleasaunt londe was vtterly layed waist.

The.viii.Chapter.

¶ The cause of all the wrath of God:
yet yf men wyll turne, he is merciful.

A So the worde of the LOR DE came vnto me, sayenge: Thus sayeth ÿ LOR DE of hoostes: I was in a greate gelousy ouer Siõ, yee I haue bene very gelous ouer her in a greate displeasure. ✠ Thus sayeth ÿ LORDE of hoostes: I will turne me agayne vnto Syon, and wyll dwell in Esay.1.d the myddest of Ierusalem: * so that Ie rusalem shalbe called a faithful & true

The.xi. Chapter.

¶ Of secrete mysteries, and of the deis a good shepherde.

A Open thy dores (o Lybanus) that that the fyre may consume thy Ceder trees.
Howle ye fyrre trees, for ẏ dane is waisted awaye. Thus sayeth ẏ LORD my god: Fede the shepe of the slaughter, which shalbe slayne of those that possesse them: yet they take it for no synne, but they that sell them, saye: The LORDE be thāked, I am ryche:

mekenes, the other I called wo, and so I kepte the shepe. Thre shepherdes destroyed I in one moneth, for I myghte not awaye with them, nother had they ony delyte in me. Then sayd I: I wyll

Then the poore symple shepe that had a respect vnto me, knewe thereby, that it was the worde of the LORDE.
And I sayd vnto them: Yf ye thynke to me: cast it vnto the potter (a goodlye

I toke the .xxx. syluer pence, and caste them to the potter in the house of the LORDE.
Then brake I myne other staffe also (namely wo) that I myght louse the brotherheade betwixte Juda & Israel.
And the LORD sayd vnto me: Take to the also the staffe of a foolyshe shep-herde: for lo, I wyl rayse vp a shepherd in to the lande, which shall not seke after the thinges that be lost, nor care for such as go astraye: he shal not heale the wounded, he shall not norysh ẏ thynge that is whole: but he shall eate the flesh of such as be fat, & teare theyr clawes in peces. O Idoll shepherde, that lea-ueth the flocke. The swearde shal come vpon his arme, and vpō his ryght eye.
His arme shalbe clene dryed vp, & hys

The. xiii. Chapter.

¶ The parable of the sede. Of the tares Of the mustarde sede. Of the leuen. Of the treasure hyd in the felde. Of ẏ perles and of the nette.

The * same daye wente Jesus A out of ẏ house, and sat by the see syde, and much people resorted vnto hym: so that he wente in to shippe & sat hym downe, and all the people stode vpon the shore. And he spake many thynges vnto them in similitudes, sayenge: Beholde, The sower went forth to sowe: and as he sowed, some fel by the way syde: Thē cam the foules, and dyd eat it vp. Some fel vpon stony groūde, & anone it sprōge vp, because it had no depth of earth: But whan the sōne arose, it caught heat: and for so much as it had no rote, it wythred awaye. Some fel amonge the thornes, & the thornes grewe vp, and choked it.
Some fell vpon good groūde, and gaue frute: some an hundreth folde, some sixty folde, some thyrtye folde. Who so hath eares to heare, let hym heare. B

* And the discyples came vnto hym, and said: Why speakest thou to them by parables? He answered and sayd vnto them: Unto you it is geuen to knowe ẏ mystery of the kyngdom of heauē, * but vnto them it is not geuen. For who so hath, vnto hym shalbe geuen, & he shall haue abundaunce. But who so hath not frō hym shalbe taken awaye, euē that he hath. Therfore speake I vnto them by parables, for with seyng eyes they se not and with hearynge eares they heare not for they understonde it not. And in them is fulfylled the prophecy of Esay, which sayeth: * Ye shall heare in dede, and shal not understonde: and with seynge eyes shall ye se, & not perceaue. For the hart of this people is waxed grosse, and theyr eares are thycke of hearinge, & theyr eyes haue they closed, lest they shulde once se with the eyes, and heare with the eares, & un-derstonde with the harte, and turne, that I myght heale them.

C * But blessed are your eyes, for they se: and youre eares, for they heare. Vere-ly I saye unto you: ‡ many Prophetes and ryghteous men haue desyred to se ẏ thynges that ye se, and haue not sene thē and to heare the thynges that ye heare, and haue not herd them. * Heare ye ther fore the parable of the sower. When one heareth the worde of the kyngdome, and understondeth it not, the euell man commeth, and plucketh it awaye that is so-wen in his harte: and this is he that is so wen by the waye syde. But he that is so-wen in the stony groūde, is this: whan one heareth the worde, and anone with ioye receaueth it: Neuerthelesse he hath no rote in hym, but endureth for a season, whan trouble and persecucyon aryseth because of the worde, immediat ly he is offēded. As for hym that is sowē amōge the thornes, this is he: Whā one heareth ẏ worde, & the carefulnes of this worlde, & ẏ deceatfulnes of riches choke the worde, & so he becōmeth unfruetfull.
But he ẏ is sowē in the good grounde, is this: whā one heareth the worde, & un derstondeth it, & bryngeth forth frute: & some geueth an hūdreth folde, some syxty folde, and some thyrtye folde.
D * Another parable put he forth unto them and sayd: ✠ The kyngdome of heauen is lyke unto a man, that sowed good sede in his felde. But whyle men slepte, there came an enemye, & sowed ta res amonge the wheate, and wente his waye. Now whan the blade was sprōge up and brought forth frute, than the ta-res appeared also. Thē cam ẏ seruaūtes to the householder, and sayd unto hym.
Syr, sowdest thou not good sede in thy felde? From whence then hath it tares?
He sayd unto them: that hath the enemy done. Then sayd the seruauntes: wylt ẏ then that we go and wede them out? He sayd. No, lest whyle ye wede out ẏ tares ye plucke up ẏ wheat also with thē. Let thē both growe together tyl the haruest, & in tyme of haruest, I wyll saye unto ẏ reapers: Gather ẏ tares fyrst, & bynd thē in sheues to be brent: but gather ẏ wheate in to my barne. ‡ ✠ Another parable put he forth unto them, and sayde: * The kyngdome of Mar.4.c heauen is lyke unto a grane of mustarde Luce.13.b. sede, whiche a man toke and sowed it in his felde. Which is the leeste amonge all sedes. But when it is growen, it is the greatest amonge herbes, and is a tree: so that the byrdes under the heauē come & dwell in the braunches of it.
Another parable spake he unto them
* The kyngdō of heauē is lyke unto Le Luce.13.b uē, which a womā toke, & myxt it amōge thre peckes of meele, tyl al was leuēded * All such thynges spake Jesus un- E to the people by parables, and without Math.4.d parables spake he nothynge unto them: that ẏ thynge myght be fulfylled, which was spoken by the Prophete sayenge:
* I wyll open my mouth in parables: & Psa.77.a wyll speake out the secretes from the be gynnynge of the worlde. ‡ Then sent Jesus the people awaye, and came home. * And his disciples cam Mar.4.b unto hym, and sayde: Declare unto us ẏ parable of the tares of the felde. Jesus answered, and sayd unto them: He that sowed the good sede, is the sonne of mā: the felde is the worlde: the good sede are the chyldren of the kyngdom: The tares are the chyldren of wyckednes: the enemye that soweth them is the deuel: * the Apo.14.b haruest is the ende of the worlde: the rea pers ar the angels. For lyke as the tares are weded out, and brent in the fyre, euē so shall it go in the ende of this worlde.
The sonne of man shall sende forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kyngdome all thynges that offēde, and them that do iniquyte, and shall cast thē eares to heare, let hym heare. ‡ ✠ Agayne the kyngdome of heauen is lyke unto a treasure hyd in the felde, which a man founde and hyd it, and for ioye therof he went and solde all that he had, and bought that felde.

Agayne ẏ kyngdome of heauē is lyke F unto a marchaūt, that sought good pear les: and * whā he had founde a precious Phil.3.a pearle, he went and solde all that he had

The xv. Chapter. ✠

Christ excuseth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scrybes and Pharyses for transgressynge Gods commaundement thorow theyr owne tradicyons. The thynge that goeth in to the mouth defyleth not the man. He delyuereth the womans of Cananees doughter, healeth the multytude, and with seuenloaues and fyue lytle fysshes fedeth foure thousand men, besyde women and chyldren.

Then came vnto him the scri bes and pharisees from Jeru

7.a dysciples transgresse the tra dicions of the elders? for they washe not theyr handes whā they eate bread. He answered and sayd vnto thē: Why do ye trāsgresse the cōmaūdemēt of God, because of your own tradicions?
For God cōmaūded, sayinge: *Honoure

17.c But ye saye: ‡ Euery man shall saye to

By this is it come to passe, that no man honoureth his father or his mother eny the waye of God truly. Is it laufull to geue trybute vnto ŷ Emperour or not?

Ought we to geue it, or ought we not to geue it? But he perceaued theyr ypocrisye, and sayd vnto them: Why tēpte ye me? Brynge me a peny, that I may se it. And they brought it hym. Then sayde he: Whose ymage and superscripcyon is this? They sayd vnto hym: The Empe-roures. Then answered Jesus and sayd .17.d vnto them: * Geue therfore vnto ŷ Em
.13.b perour that which is ŷ Emperours, & vnto God ŷ whiche is Gods. And they marueyled at hym.
.22.c * Then came vnto hym the Sadu-.20.d ces (which holde that ther is no resurrec .25.a. cyon) these axed hym, and sayd: Master,
.25.a Moses wrote vnto vs: Yf ony mans brother dye, and leaue a wyfe, and leaue no chyldren, his brother shall take his wyfe, & rayse vp sede vnto his brother.
Now were there seuen brethren, ŷ fyrst toke a wyfe, and dyed and left no sede: and the seconde toke her, and dyed, & left no sede also: the thyrde in lyke maner.
And they all seuen toke her, and left no sede. At the last after them all, ŷ wyfe dyed also. Now in ŷ resurreccion whan they shall ryse agayne, whose wyfe shall she be of them? For seuen hadde her to wyfe.
C Then answered Jesus, and sayd vn to thē: Do not ye erre? because ye know not the scriptures nor ŷ power of God?
Whan they shall ryse agayne from the dead, they shall nether mary nor be maried, but they are as the angels in hea uen. As touchynge the dead, ŷ they shall ryse agayne, haue ye not red in ŷ boke of Moses, how God spake to hym in ŷ
.3.a. bushe, and sayd: * I am the God of A-.7.d braham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? Yet is not God a God of the dead, but of the lyuinge. Therfor ye erre greatly.
* And there came vnto hym one of Mat.22.d the scrybes, that had herkened vnto thē howe they disputed together, and sawe that he had answered thē wel, and axed hym: Which is the chefest commaunde mēt of all? Jesus answered hym: ŷ che-greater cōmaundement then these.

And the scrybe sayd vnto hym: Ma ster, verely thou hast sayde ryght, for there is but one God, and there is none other without him, & to loue him wyth all the hart, with all the mynde, with al the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue a mans neyghbour as him selfe, is more then brent sacrifices and all offeringes. But whan Jesus sawe that he answered discretlye, he sayde vnto hym: Thou art not farre from the king dome of God. And after this durst no man axe hym ony mo questions.
* And Jesus answered and sayd: E whan he taught in the temple: How say Mat.20.d the scrybes, that Christe is the sonne of Luce.20.e Dauid? But Dauid hymselfe sayeth thorow the holy goost: * The LORD psal.109.a sayd to my LORD Syt ŷ on my right hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fotestole. There Dauid calleth him his LORDE. How is he then his sonne?
And many people herde hym gladly.
And he taught them, and sayd vnto them: * Beware of the scrybes, ŷ loue Mat.23.b to go in longe garmentes, and loue to Luce.20.e. be saluted in the market, and syt gladly aboue in the synagoges and at the table: they deuoure wedowes houses, and sayd vnto them: Verely I say vnto you this poore wydowe hath put more in to ỹ Gods chest, thẽ all they that haue put in: For they all haue put in of theyr su-

And whan he sat vpon mount Oli-

James, and Johon, and Andrew axed hym pryuatly: Tell vs, Whan shall

And let hym that is in ỹ felde, not turne

But wo vnto them that are with chylde, and to them that geue sucke in sayd, and they that were with hym: Master, the people thronge the & thrust ched me, for I fele, that there is vertue gone out fro me. But whan the womã sawe that she was not hyd, she cam trẽtolde hym before all ẏ people, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediatly. And he said vn to her: Doughter, be of good comforte, thy fayth hath made the whole, go thy

* Whyle he yet spake, there cam one from the ruler of the synagoges house, and sayd vnto hym: Thy doughter is dead, disease not the master. Whan Jesus herde that, he answered hym, and sayd: Feare not, beleue onely, & she shall be made whole. But whan he came in to the house, he suffred no man to go in saue Peter, and James and Jhon, and the father and mother of the mayden.
They wepte all, and sorowed for her.
But he sayd: Wepe not, for she is not hym to skorne, knowynge well that she was dead. But he thrust them all out, & toke her by the hande, and cryed, & sayd Mayden aryse. And her sprete came a-

And he commaunded to geue her meat.
And her elders were astonyed. But he charged them, that they shulde tell no they coulde not. Then answered Jesus and sayd: Oh thou vnfaithful & croked rebuked the foule spirite, and healed the chylde, and delyuered hym to his father

And it fortuned that he was A why hyndreth it the grounde? But he answered, & sayde: Syr, let it alone yet this yeare, tyll I dygge rounde aboute it and donge it, yf it wyll brynge forth frute: Yf no, thẽ cut it down afterward.

And he taught in a synagoge vpon the Sabbath: and beholde, there was a woman, which had a sprete of infirmite eyghtene yeares, and was croked, and coulde not well loke vp. Whan Jesus sawe her, he called her to him, and sayd vnto her. Woman, be delyuered frõ thy

He healeth the man that was sycke eyght and thyrtie yeare. The Jewes ac cuse hym as a breaker of the Sabbath: he answereth for hym selfe, and repro ueth them.

Afterward there was a feast A of the Jewes, & Jesus went vp to Jerusalē. There is at Jerusalē by ẏ slaughter hou se a pole, which in Hebrue is called Bethseda and hath fyue porches, wherin lay many syck, blind, lame, with red, which wayted whā ẏ water shulde tym in to ẏ pole, & stered ẏ water. Who soeuer now wēte down fyrst, after that the water was stered, ẏ same was made whole, what soeuer disease he had. And there was a man, which had lyen sycke sawe hym lye, and knewe that he hadde lyen so longe, he sayde vnto hym: Wylt thou be made whole? The sycke answe red hym: Syr, I haue no man, whā the the water is moued, to put me in to the pole. And whā I come, another steppeth downe in before me.

Jesus sayd vnto him: * Aryse, take vp thy bed, and go thy way. And imme diatly the man was made whole. And toke vp his bedde, and wente his waye.
* But vpon the same daye it was the Sabbath. Then sayde the Jewes vnto him that was made whole: To daye is the Sabbath it is not lawful for the to cary thy bed. He answered thē: He that made me whole, sayde vnto me. Take vp thy bed, and go thy waye. Thā axed they hym: What man is ẏ, which sayde vnto the: Take vp thy bed, and go thy

This he spake, and afterward sayd he vnto them: Lazarus our frende * slepeth, but I go to wake hym out of slepe. Then sayd his disciples: LORDE, yf he slepe, he shall do well ynough (Howbeit Jesus spake of his death, but they thought that he had spoken of the bodely slepe.) Then sayd Jesus vnto them playnly: Lazarus is dead & I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, y ye maye beleue. Neuertheles let vs go vnto hym. Thē sayd Thomas * (which is called Didimus) vnto the disciples: Let vs go also that we maye dye with hym.

¶ The moost hartly & louing prayer of Christ unto his father, for all suche as receaue the treuth, and his owne.

B These thynges spake Jesus & lyfte up his eyes towarde heauē, and sayde: * Father the houre is com, that thou glorifye thy sonne, that thy sonne also maye glorifye þ. Lyke as thou hast * geuen hym power ouer all flesh, that he shulde geue euerlastynge lyfe to as many as thou hast geuē hym. * But this is the lyfe euerlastynge, that they knowe the (that thou onely art the true God) & whō thou hast sēt Jesus Christ.

Joh.12.e / 13.d — Joh.5.d — Joh.1.a — Joh.19.e [illegible]

I haue glorifyed the vpō earth, and * fynysshed þ worke, þ thou gauest me to do. And now glorifye me thou father by thyne owne selfe, with þ glory which I had or euer the worlde was. I haue declared thy name unto the men, whom thou gauest me from the worlde. They were thyne, and thou gauest them vnto me, and they haue kepte thy worde.

C Now knowe they, that all thynges what soeuer thou hast geuen me, are of the. * For the wordes which þ gauest me, haue I geuē vnto thē and they haue receaued thē, and knowne of a treuth, that I am come forth frō the, and haue beleued that thou hast sent me. I pray for thē, and praye not for the * worlde, but for thē whō thou hast geuē me, for they are thyne. And all that is myne, is thyne: and what thyne is, that is myne. And am glorified in thē. And now am I nomore in þ worlde, and they are in the worlde, and I come to the. ✝ Ho ly father kepe in thyne name, those whō thou * hast geuen me, that they may be one lyke as we are. But now come I vnto the and this I speake in the worlde, þ they maye haue my ioye perfecte in them. I haue geuen them thy worde, * and the worlde hateth them: for they are not of the worlde, euē as I also am not of the worlde. I praye not that thou shuldeste take them out of the worlde, * but that thou kepe them from euell. They are not of of the worlde, as I also am not of the worlde.

Joh.6.e — Joh.21.e — D — [illegible]

Sanctifye them in thy treuth. Thy worde is þ treuth. Lyke as thou hast sēt me in to þ worlde, so haue I sent them in to the worlde: and for their sakes I sanctifye my selfe, that they all so maye be sanctified in the treuth.

Neuertheles I praye not for thē onely, but also for those, which thorow their worde shall beleue on me, þ they all maye be one, lyke as thou father art in me, and I in the, that they also maye be * one in vs: that the worlde maye beleue, that thou hast sent me. And the glory which thou gauest me, haue I geuen them: that they maye be one, lyke as we are one. And there was wrytten: Jesus of Nazareth, kynge of the Jewes. This superscripcyon red many of the Jewes. For the place where Jesus was crucyfyed, was nye vnto the cyte. And it was written in Hebrue, Greke, and Latyn. Then sayde the hye prestes of the Jewes vnto Pylate: Wryte not kynge of the Jewes but that he sayd: I am kynge of the Jewes. There were together Symō Peter, and Thomas whiche is called Dydymus, and * Nathanael of Cana a cite of Galile, and the sōnes of zebede, and two other of his disciples. Symō Peter sayd vnto thē: I go afysshynge: They sayde vnto hym: we also wyll go wͭ the. They wēte out, & ētred into a shyppe straight way. And that same night toke they no thynge. But whan it was now morow, Jesus stode on yͤ shore, but his disciples knewe not that it was Jesus, Jesus sayde vnto them: Chyldren, haue ye ony thynge to eate? They answered hym: No. He sayde vnto them: * Cast out yͤ net on the right syde of the shyppe, and ye shall fynde. Then they caste out, and coulde nomore drawe it for the multitude of fysshes. Then sayde the disciple * whome Jesus loued, vnto Peter: It is the LORDE.

When Symon Peter herde that it was the LORDE, he gyrded his mantell aboute hym (for he was naked) and sprange in to the see. but the other disciples came by shyppe (for they were not farre from londe, but as it were two hundreth cubytes) and they drewe the net with the fysshes. Now whan they were come to londe, they sawe coles layed, and fysshe theron, and breade. Jesus sayde vnto them: * Brynge hyther of Luce.24.F the fysshes, that ye haue taken now. Symon Peter stepped forth, and drew the net to the londe, full of greate fysshes, an hundreth and thre and fyftye. And for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

Jesus sayde vnto them: Come, and C dyne. But none of the disciples durste aske hym: Who art thou. For they knew that it was the LORDE. Then came Jesus, and toke the breade, and gaue it them: and the fysshe lykewyse. This is now the thyrde tyme that Jesus appeared vnto his disciples, after yͭ he was rysen agayne from the dead.

✠ Now whan they had dyned. Jesus sayde vnto Symon Peter: Symon Johanna, louest thou me more then these do? He sayde vnto hym: Yee LORDE, thou knowest that I loue the. He sayde vnto hym: Fede my lambes. He sayde vnto hym agayne the seconde tyme: Symon Johanna, louest thou me? He sayd vnto hym: Yee LORDE, thou knowest that I loue the. He sayd vnto him: Fede my shepe. He sayde vnto hym the thyrde tyme: Symon Johanna, louest thou me? Peter was sory, because he sayde vnto hym: louest thou me? And he

When he had spoken this, he sayde vnto hym: ✠ Folowe me. Peter turned hym aboute, and sawe the disciple folo-

And it is knowē vnto all them ẏ dwell at Jerusalem, in so much that the same felde is called in their mother tonge Acheldema, that is to say, ẏ bloude felde.

For it is written in the boke of psalmes: * His habitacion be voyde, and no man be dwellynge therin. And, his byshopryke another take. * And they appoynted two (Joseph called Barsabas, whose syrname was Justus, and Mathias,) makynge their prayer and sayng: Thou LORDE, * which knowest the hartes of al men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen, ẏ the one may take the rowme of this ministracion and Apostelshippe, from the whiche Judas by transgressyon fell, that he myght go away in to his awne place. And they gaue forth the lottes ouer them, and the lot fell vpon Mathias: And he was counted with the eleuen Apostles.

The.ii.Chapter.

The commynge of ẏ holy goost, The sermon of Peter before the congregacyon at Jerusalem, and the increase of the faythfull.

And whan the * Whyt sonday was fulfylled, they were al with one accorde together in one place. And sodenly ther came a sounde from heauen, as it had bene the commynge of a myghtye wynde, and it fylled ẏ whole house where they sat. And ther appeared vnto them clouen tunges, lyke as they had bene of fyre. And he sat vpō eche one of them, & they were all fylled with ẏ holy gooste * And they beganne to preache with other tunges, euen as the sprete gaue them vtteraunce.

There were dwellynge at Jerusalem Jewes, mē that feared God, out of euery nacion ẏ is vnder heauē. Now whā this voyce came to passe, the multitude came together, and were astonnied: For euery one herde, that they spake wyth his owne tunge. They wondred all and maruayled, and sayde amonge them selues: Beholde, are not all these whyche speake, of Galile? How heare we then euery one his awne tunge, wherin we were borne? Parthians and Medes, & Elamytes, and we that dwell in Mesopotamia, and in Jewry and Capadocia Pontus, and Asia, Phrigia, and Pamphilia, Egipte, and in the partes of Lybia by Syren, and straungers of Rome, Jewes and * Proselytes, Cretes and Arabians: we heare them speake wyth our owne tunges the greate workes of God. — Mat. 23. b

They were al amased, and wōdred, and sayde one to another: What wyll this be? But other mocked thē, & sayde: They are full of swete wyne. Then stode Peter vp wyth the eleuen, & lyfte vp his voyce, and sayd vnto them. — B

Ye men of Jewry, and all ye ẏ dwel at Jerusalem, be this knowē vnto you, and let my wordes entre in at youre eares. For these are not dronkē, as ye suppose, for it is yet but the thirde houre of the day: but this is it, that was spoken befor by the prophet Joel: * And it shal come to passe in the last dayes (sayeth God) I wyll poure out of my sprete vpon all fleshe, and your sonnes & * your doughters shall prophecye, and youre yonge men shall se visyons: and youre olde men shall dreame dreames, and on my seruauntes and on my handmaydes wyll I poure out of my sprete in those dayes, and they shall prophecye. — Joel. 2. f; Luce 2. f; Deut. 11. b; Act 10. b and. 16. b

* And I wyll shewe wōders in heuen aboue, and tokens on the earth beneth, bloud and fyre, and the vapour of smoke. The Sonne shal be turned in to darknes, and ẏ Mone in to bloud, befor that greate and notable day of ẏ LORDE come. And it shall come to passe. * Whosoeuer shall call vpon the name of the LORDE, shall be saued. — Mat 27. f; Luce 23. f; Rom 10. b

Ye men of Israell, heare these wordes: Jesus of Nazareth, the mā approued of God amonge you with myracles, and wonders & tokens, which God dyd by hym in the myddes amōge you, as ye youre selues know also, * hym (after that he was delyuered by the determinate councell and foreknowlege of God) haue ye taken by the hādes of vnryghteous parsōnes, and crucified him, and slayne hym, * whome God hath raysed vp, and lowsed the sorowes of death, for so muche as it was vnpossible that he shulde be holden of it. For Dauid speaketh of hym: * I fore hāde haue I set the LORDE alwayes before me, for he is on my ryght hande, — C; Mat 27. b; Actu. 10. f; Psal. 15. b

I shald not be moued. Therfore dyd my

The.iii. Chapter.

¶ The halt is restored to his fete. Pe= ter preacheth Christ vnto the people.

Peter and Ihon went vp to= gether in to ỹ tēple about ỹ nyenth houre to praye. And there was a certayne man halt frō his mothers wōbe whom they brought, and layed dayly at the gate of ỹ temple, which is called the Beautyfull, that he myght axe almesse of them that wente in to the temple.
Now whan he sawe Peter and Ihon, that they wolde in to the temple, he de= syred to receaue an almesse. Peter be= helde hym with Ihon, and sayde: Loke on vs. And he gaue hede vnto them, ho pynge to receaue some thynge of them.
How beit Peter sayd: Syluer and gold toke hym by the ryght hande, and lyfte hym vp. Immediatly, his legges & ancle bones were made stronge, & he sprange, stode and walked, and entred with them in to the temple, walkynge and leappyng and praysynge God.

And all the people sawe hym walke B and prayse God. And they knewe hym, that it was he, whiche sat for almesse at the beawtyfull gate of the temple. And they were fylled with wondrynge, and were astonnyed at that, which had hap pened vnto him. But as this halt which was healed, helde hym to Peter & Ihō, all the people ranne vnto them in to the * porche, which is called Salomons, & wondred.
Whan Peter sawe that, he answe= red vnto the people: Ye mē of Israel why maruayle ye at this, or why loke ye so at vs, as though we by our owne po= wer or deseruynge, had made this mā to walke? The God of Abraham and of Isaac, and of Iacob the God of our fa thers hath glorified his chylde Iesus,

* whome ye despyced and denyed in the presence of Pylate, whã he had iud ged hym to be lowsed. But ye denyed ŷ holy and iust, and desyred the murthurer to be geuen you, but ye slewe the prynce of lyfe, whome God hath raysed from the dead, of the which we are wytnesses. And thorowe the fayth in his name, hath he confirmed his name vpon this man, whome ye se and knowe: and fayth thorow hym, hath geuen this man thys health before youre eyes.

Now deare brethren, I knowe that ye haue done it * thorow ignoraunce, as dyd also youre rulers. But God, whiche by the mouth of all his prophetes had shewed before, that his Christe shulde suffre, hath so fulfylled it. Do ye pennaunce now therfore and turne you, that * youre synnes maye be done awaye, ✝ whan the tyme of refreshynge shall come before the presence of the LORDE, and whã he shal sende hym, whiche now before is preached vnto you, euen Jesus Christ: which must receaue heauen vntyll the tyme that all thynges, whiche God hath spoken by by the mouthe of all his holy prophetes sence the worlde beganne, be restored agayne. D

For Moses sayd vnto the fathers: * A Prophete shall the LORDE your God rayse vp vnto you, euen from amonge youre brethren, lyke vnto me: hym shall ye heare, in all ŷ he shall saye vnto you. And it shall come to passe, what soule so euer shall not heare the same prophete, shalbe destroyed from amonge the people. And all the prophetes from Samuel and thence forth as many as haue spoken, haue lykewyse tolde of these dayes.

Ye are the chyldren of the prophetes and of the couenaũt, which God made vnto oure fathers, whan he sayde vnto Abraham: * Thorow thy sede shall all the nacyons of the earth be blessed. ✝ Fyrst vnto you hath God raysed vp his chylde Jesus, & sent hym vnto you, to blesse you, that euery one shuld turne from his wyckednesse.

¶ The Apostles are taken & brought before the councell. They are forbyddẽ to preache, but they turne them vnto prayer, and are more obediẽt vnto God then vnto men.

But as they spake to the people, there came vnto them ŷ prestes and the rulers of the temple, and the Saduces (whome it greued that they taught the people, and preached in Jesu the resurreccyon from the dead) and they layed handes vpon them, and put them in holde tyll the morow: for it was now euenyde. They sawe the boldnesse of Peter & B Jhon and maruayled, for they were sure that they were vnlearned men, and laye people. And they knewe them also, that they were with Jesu. As for the man that was made whole, they sawe hym stondynge by them, and coulde not saye agaynst it. Then commaunded they thẽ to stonde asyde out of the councell, and comuned amonge them selues, and said: * What shall we do to these men? for a Joh.11.e manyfest token is done by them, and is openly knowen vnto them that dwel at Jerusalem, and we can not denye it. * And they called them, & cõmaunded Actu.5.e thẽ, ŷ in ony wyse they shuld not speake nor teache in the name of Jesu. But

Peter and Jhon answered, and sayde vnto them: Judge youre selues, whether it be ryght before God, that we shulde be more obediente vnto you, then vnto God. We can not chose, but speake that we haue sene and herde. But they threatened them, and let them go, and founde nothynge how to punyshe them because of the people: for they all, prayssed God because of that,

Whan they herde that, they lyfte vp theyr voyce with one accorde vnto God, and sayd: LORD, thou that art the God which made heauen and earth, and the see, and all that therin is, thou that by ẏ mouth of Dauid thy seruaūt

The.v.Chapter.

The dyssemblynge of Ananias and Saphira is punysshed. Miracles are done by the Apostles, whiche are taken, but the angell of God bryngeth them out of preson. They are brought before the councell. The sentence of Gamaliel. The Apostles are beatē, they reioyce in trouble.

But a certayne mā named Ananias with Saphira his wyfe, solde his possession, & kepte away parte of the money (his wyfe knowynge of it) and brought one part, and layed it at the Apostles fete. But Peter sayd: Ananias, Wherfore hath Sathā filled thyn hart, that thou shuldest lye vnto ẏ holy goost, and withdrawe awaye parte of ẏ money of the lyuelode? Myghtest thou not haue kepte it, whā thou haddest it? And whā it was sold, was not ẏ mony also in thy power: Why hast thou then conceaued this thynge in thyne harte? Thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God. Whan Ananias herde these wordes, he fell downe and gaue vp ẏ goost. And there came a great feare vpon all them that herde of this. The yonge mē rose vp, and put hym asyde, caryed hym out, and buryed hym.

And it fortuned as it were aboute ẏ space of thre houres after, his wyfe cam in, and knewe not what was done. But Peter answered vnto her: Tell me, solde ye the londe for so much? She sayd: Yee, for so much. Peter sayd vnto her: Why haue ye agreed together, to tempte the spirite of the LORDE? Beholde, the fete of them whiche haue buryed thy husbande, are at the dore, and shal cary the out. And immediatly she fell downe at his fete, and gaue vp the goost. kyng, which knewe not of Joseph. The same dealt sutely with our kynred, and intreated our fathers euell, & made thē to cast out the yonge chyldren, that they shulde not remayne alyue.

* At ẏ same tyme was Moses borne, and was a proper chylde before God & was norysshed thre monethes in his fathers house. But whan he was cast out, Pharaos doughter toke hym vp, and norisshed hym vp for hir owne sonne.
And Moses was learned in all maner wysedome of the Egipcyans, and was myghtye in dedes and wordes.

But whan he was fortye yeare olde it came in to his mynde to vyset his bre thren the chyldren of Israell. And whan he sawe one of them suffre wronge, he helped hym, & delyuered hym, that had the harme done vnto hym, and slewe the Egipcian. But he thought that his brethren shulde haue vnderstōde, how that God by his hande shulde saue thē, how beit they vnderstode it not.

D And on the next daye he shewed him selfe vnto them as they stroue together, and wolde haue set them at one agayne & sayd: Syrs, ye are brethren, why hurt ye one another? But he ẏ dyd his negh-boure wronge, thrust hym awaye, and sayd: * Who made the a ruler & iudge ouer vs? Wylt ẏ slaye me also as thou slewest the Egipcian yesterdaye? But Moses fled at that sayenge, and was a straunger in the lande of Madiā, where he begat two sonnes.

* And after fortye yeares, the angell of the LORDE appeared vnto hym vpon mount Syna, in a flamme of fyre in a bushe. Whā Moses sawe it, he wōdred at the syght. But as he drewe nye to behold, ẏ voyce of the LORDE came vnto him: I am the God of thy fathers, ẏ God of Abrahā, & ẏ God of Isaac, & the God of Jacob. Howbeit Moses trē bled, & durst not beholde. But ẏ LOR-DE sayd vnto him: * Put of thy shues from thy fete, for the place where thou stondest, is an holy grounde. I haue wel sene the trouble of my people in Egipte

The same brought them out, and dyd rose there vp certayne of the secte of the Pharyses (whiche beleued) and sayde:

They must be circumcysed and commaun-

Apostles and Elders came together, to reason vpon this matter.
Now whan there was much dispu B

And the Apostles and Elders with the whole cōgregacion thought it good to chose out men of them, and to sende them vnto Antyoche with Paule and Barnabas, namely * Judas, whose syrname was Barsabas, and Sylas Whan these were sent forth, they came vnto Anthioche, and gathered the multitude together, and delyuered the glad of that consolacyon. As for Judas and Sylas, (whiche were prophetes al-

The.xvii. Chapter.

Paule commeth to Thessalonica, where the Jewes set the cyte on a rore, Paul escapeth, and cõmeth to Athens, where he preacheth the true and unknowen God.

B As they made their iourney thorow Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a synagoge of the Jewes. And Paul (as his maner was) wente in unto them, and upon thre Sabbathes he spake unto thẽ of the scripture, opened it unto them, and alleged, * that Christ must nedes haue suffred, and ryse again from the dead: And this Jesus, whome I preache unto you (sayd he) is ye same Christ. * And some of them beleued, & were ioyned unto Paule and Sylas, a great multytude also of the deuout Grekes, and of the chefe wemẽ not a fewe.

But ye styfnecked Jewes had indignacyon, and toke unto thẽ certayne euel men which were vagaboundes, and gathered a company, and set the cyte in a rore, and preassed unto the house of Jason, and sought to brynge them out unto the comune people. But whan they

And these all do cõtrarye to the decrees of the Emperoure, * sayenge that there is another kynge, one Jesus. They troubled the people, and the rulers of the cyte, that herde this. And whã they had receaued a sufficient answer of Jason and of the other, they let them go.

But the brethrẽ immediatly sent awaye Paul and Sylas by nyghte unto Berea. Whã they came there, they wēte in to the Synagoge of the Jewes (for they were ye eldest amonge thẽ at Thessalonica) which receaued the worde maruaylous wyllyngly, and * searched the scriptures dayly whether it were euē so. And he spake unto the Jewes and deuoute persones in the synagoge, and in the market dayly unto them that came to hym. But certayne Philosophers of the Epicures & Stoikes disputed with hym. And some sayd: What wyl this babler saye? But some sayd: He semeth to be a tydynges brynger of new goddes. (That was because he had preached unto them ye gospell of Jesus, and of the resurrecyon.) And they toke him, and brought hym before the councell house, and sayd: Maye we not knowe, what new doctryne this is that thou teachest? For thou bryngest straunge tydynges to oure eares? and Paule I knowe, but who are ye?
And the man in whom the euell sprete was, ranne vpon them, and ouercame them, and cast thē vnder hym, so ÿ they fled out of the same house naked & woū-

The.xxv. Chapter.

¶ The Jewes accuse Paule before Festus, he appealeth vnto the Emperoure and is sent vnto Rome.

A NOw whan Festus came in to the countre, ouer thre day es he wēte vp from Cesarea to Jerusalem. Then appeared the hye prestes and the chefe of the Jewes before hym agaynst Paule, and intreated hym, and desyred fauore agaynst hym, that he wold sende for hym to Jerusalem, and layed wayte for hym, that they myght slaye hym by the waye. Then answered Festus, that Paule shulde be kepte at Cesarea, but ẏ he him selfe wolde shortlye go thither agayne. Let thē therfore (sayd he) which are able amonge you, come downe with vs to accuse the man, yf there be ought Whan he had taried amonge them more thē ten dayes, he wente downe to Cesarea. And on the nexte daye he sat downe in the iudgement seate, and com maunded Paule to be brought. Whan he was come, the Jewes whiche were come downe from Jerusalē, stode roūde aboute hym, and brought many and gre coulde not proue, whyle he answered for B himself: * I haue nether offēded ought Actu.24.d and.28.c agaynst the lawe of the Jewes, nor a-gaynst the temple, nor agaynst the Em-peroure.

But Festus wyllynge to shewe the Jewes a pleasure, answered Paul, and sayde: Wylt thou go vp to Jerusalem, and there be iudged of these thynges be fore me? But Paule sayde: I stonde at the Emperours iudgement seate: where I ought to be iudged: to ẏ Jewes haue I done no harme, as thou also knowest very well. Yf I haue hurte ony man, or cōmitted ony thynge worthye of death, I refuse not to dye. But yf there are no such thynges as they accuse me of, then maye no man delyuer me vnto them. I appeale vnto ẏ Emperour. Thē spake Festus with the Councell, and answered: Thou hast appealed vnto the Em-peroure, to ẏ Emperour shalt thou go.

After certayne dayes came kynge Agryppa and Bernice to Cesarea to wel come Festus, and whan they had taried there many dayes. Festus rehearsed Paules cause vnto the kynge, and sayd: C * There is a man left bounde of Felix Actu.24.

shulde perysshe, before that he whiche is accused, haue his accusers present, and receaue libertye to answere for himselfe hither together I made no delaye, but sat the nexte daye in iudgement, and cō maunded the man to be brought forth.

vp, they brought no accusacyon of such thynges as I supposed: but had certayn questions agaynst hym of their owne su persticyōs, and of one Jesus dead, whō Paul affirmed to be alyue. How beit be cause I vnderstode not the question, I axed hym whether he wolde go at Jeru salem, and there be iudged of these mat ters. But whā Paul had appealed, that he myghte be kepte vnto the knowlege of the Emperoure, I cōmaunded hym to be kepte, tyll I myght sende hym to the Emperoure.

Agryppa sayde to Festus: I wolde D fayne heare the man also. He sayde: To morow shalt thou heare hym. And on ẏ nexte daye came Agryppa and Bernyce with greate pompe, and wente in the co mun hall with the captaynes and chefe men of the cytie. And at Festus cōmaun dement. Paul was brought forth. And Festus sayde: Kynge Agryppa, and all ye men, whiche are here with vs, ye se this man, aboute whome all the multitude of the Jewes haue entreated me, both at Jerusalē and here also, & cryed, ẏ he ought not to lyue ony lenger. But whan I perceaued that * he had done Actu.23. nothynge worthy of death, and that he and.26. himselfe also had appealed vnto ẏ Em peroure I determyned to sende hym, of whome I haue no certayne thynge to wryte vnto my Lorde. Therfore haue I caused hym to be broughte forth before you, specyally before ẏ (O kynge Agrip pa) that after examinacyō had, I might haue somwhat to write. For me thynke it an vnreasonable thynge to sēde a pre soner, and not to shewe ẏ causes which are layed agaynst hym.

The.xxvi. Chapter.

Kinge Agryppa heareth Paul, which telleth hym his callynge from the begynnynge.

A Agryppa sayde vnto Paule: Thou hast leaue to speake for thy selfe. Thē Paul stretched forth the hande, and answered for himselfe: I thynke my selfe happye (O kynge Agryppa) because I shall answere this daye before the, of all the thynges wherof I am accused of ẏ Iewes: specyally for so much as thou art experte in all customes and questions, whiche are amonge the Iewes. Wherfore I beseke the, to heare me pacyently.

My lyuynge truly from youth vp (how it was led from the begynnynge amonge this people at Ierusalē) know all the Iewes which knew me afore at the fyrst, yf they wolde testifye, for after the moost strayte secte of oure Iewysshe lawe, I lyued a pharyse. * And now stonde I, and am iudged because of the hope of the ‡ promes, that was made of God vnto oure fathers, vnto whiche (promes) oure twolue trybes hope to come seruynge God instantly daye and nyghte. For the whiche hopes sake (O B kynge Agryppa) I am accused of the Iewes. Wherfore is this iudged amonge you not to be beleued * that God raysed vp the deade?

I also verely thoughte by my selfe, that I ought to do many contrary thynges cleane agaynste ẏ name of Iesus of Nazareth, * which I dyd at Ierusalē, whan I shut vp many sayntes in preson, where vpon I receaued auctorite of the hye prestes. And whan they shuld be put to death, I brought the sentence. And thorow all the synagoges I punisshed them oft, and compelled thē to blaspheme, and was exceadynge mad vpon them, and persecuted them euen vnto straunge cyties. Aboute which thynges as I went toward Damascō with auctorite and lycēce of the hye prestes, euē at the myddaye (O kynge) I saw in the waye, that a lyght from heauen (clearer then the bryghtnesse of the Sonne) shyned rounde aboute me, and them that iourneyed with me.

C But whan we were all fallē downe to the earth, I herde a voyce speakynge vnto me, and sayenge in Hebrue, Saull Saul, why persecutest thou me? It shal be harde for the to kycke agaynste the prycke. But I sayde: LORDE, who art thou? He sayd: I am Iesus, whom thou persecutest. But ryse vp, and stōde vpon thy fete, for therfore haue I appeared vnto the, that I myghte ordeyne the to be a mynister and witnesse of it that thou hast sene, and that I wyll yet cause to appeare vnto the. And I wyll delyuer the from the people, and from the Heythen, amonge whō I wyll now sende the, to open theyr eyes, that they may turne from the darknesse vnto the * light, and from the power of the deuell vnto God, that they maye receaue forgeuenesse of synnes, and the enheritaunce with them that are sanctifyed by fayth in me. Esa. 60.a

was not faythlesse vnto ẏ heauenly vysion, but shewed it fyrste vnto them at Damascon, and at Ierusalem, and in all ẏ coastes of Iewry, and to the Heythen, that they shulde * do penaunce, & turne vnto God, and to do the righte workes of penaunce. For this cause the Iewes toke me in the temple, and wēre aboute to kyll me. But thorow ẏ helpe of God sent vnto me, I stōde vnto this daye, and testifye both vnto small and greate, and saye none other thynge, thē that the prophetes haue sayde (that it shulde come to passe) and Moses, that Christe shulde suffre, and be the fyrst of the resurreccyon from the dead, & shew lyght vnto the people, and to ẏ Heythē. Actu. 2.d 3.c.17.e.

Whan he thus answered for hymselfe, Festus sayde with a loude voyce: E Paul thou art besydes thy selfe, much learnynge maketh ẏ madde. But Paul sayde: I am not mad (moost deare Festus) but speake the wordes of trueth & sobernesse: for the kynge knoweth this well, vnto whom I speake frely. For I thynke ẏ none of these thinges is hyd from hym: * for this was not done in a corner. Beleuest thou the prophetes, O kynge Agryppa? I knowe that thou beleuest. Agryppa sayd vnto Paul: Thou persuadest me in a parte to become a Chrysten. Paul sayd: I wolde to God, ẏ (not onely in a parte but altogether,) I myght persuade not the onely, but all thē that hear me this day, to be such as I am, these bondes excepte. And whan he had spoken this; the kynge rose vp, and the Debyte, and Bernyce, and they that sat with them, and wente asyde, & talked together and sayd: * This man hath done nothynge that is worthy of death or of bondes. But Agryppa sayde Joh. 18.c Actu. 23.b and. 25.b

Actu. 23.a Phil. 3.a ‡ Gen. 3.c Gen. 22.c Deu. 28.c Psal. 15.b Joh. 11.e Actu. 8.a 9.a 22.a to the Emperoure.

And after longe abstinence, Paule C

After thre monethes we sayled in a shyppe of Alexandria, whiche had wyntred in the Ile, and had a badge of Castor and Pollux. And whan we came to Syracusa, we taryed there thre dayes. And whan we had sayled aboute, we came to Rhegiū: & after one day whan the south wynde blewe, we came to Puteolis, where we founde brethrē & were desyred of them to tarye there seuē dayes, and so came we to Rome. And from thence whan the brethren herde of vs, * they cam forth to mete vs to Apiforū and to the thre tauernes. Whan Paule saw them, he thanked God, and waxed bolde. But whā we came to Rome, the vnder captayne delyuered the presoners to the chefe captayne. * As for Paul, he had leaue to byde alone with one souldyer that kepte hym.

*For I am not ashamed of the Gos

God, which saueth al that beleue therō, ẏ Iewe fyrst & also the Greke: for in it ẏ ryghteousnes that is of value before God, is opened, which commeth out of

* The iust shall lyue by his faith. For ẏ wrath of god is declared from heauē vpon all vngodlynes & vnrighteousnes of men, which wytholde the trueth of God in vnryghteousnes: by cause ẏ it, which may be knowne of God, is ma=

C & God heade) myghte be sene * whyle they are consydered by ẏ workes from the creacion of the worlde: so that they are without excuse, in as much as they knewe, that there is a God, & haue not prayses him as God, nor thāked hym, but became vayne in their imagynacy= ons, and * their folysh hart was blyn= ẏ glory of the incorruptible God, in to the symilitude of the ymage of a corrup

‡ Wherfore God lykewyse gaue thē

D Therfor god gaue thē vp vnto shame

Eze. 36.d The circumcisyon verely avayleth, uncircũcisyon. Therfore yf the uncircũ-cisyon kepe the right thynges cõteyned in the lawe, shall not his uncircũcysyon be counted for circumcysyon? And so, it that of nature is uncircumcysion, and fulfylleth ẏ lawe, shall iudge the, which under the letter and circũcysion trans-gressest the lawe. For he is not a Jewe

The.iii. Chapter.

The sheweth what preferment ẏ Jew es haue & that both ẏ Jewes & Gentiles are under synne, and are iustifyed onely by the grace of God in Christ.

A What furtheraunce thẽ haue the Jewes? Or what auaun tageth circũcysion? Surely very much. Fyrst * unto thẽ Rom. 9.a was commytted what God & 2. tim. 2.b spake: & But where as some of thẽ dyd not beleue therõ, what thẽ? shulde their unbeleue make the promesse of God of none effecte? God forbyd. Let it rather Joh. 3.a be thus that * God is true, & and al mẽ & ps. 115 lyers. As it is wrytten: * That thou * ps. 50 mayest be iustifyed in thy sayenges, and shuldest ouercome, whan ẏ art iudged.

But yf it be so, ẏ oure unrighteous-nes prayseth the righteousnesse of God, what shal we say? Is God then unrigh teous, ẏ he is angrie therfore? (I speake thus after the maner of men) God forbyd. How myghte God then iudge the worlde? For yf the truth of god be the row my lye the more excellent unto hys prayse, why shulde I thẽ be iudged yet as a synner? & not rather to do thus (as we are euel spokẽ of, & as some reporte, that we shulde say) Let us do euell, that good maye come therof. Whose damna cion is iuste.

What say we thẽ? are we better thẽ B they? No, in no wyse: for we haue proued afore, that both the Jewes & Grekes are all under synne. As it is wryttẽ:
* There is none righteous, no not one.
There is none that understondeth, ther is none that seketh after God. They are all gone out of they way, they are altogether become unprofitable: there is no ne that doeth good, no not one. * Their throte is an opẽ sepulcre, with their tũ-ges they haue deceaued, * the poysõ of Aspes is under their lippes & Their mouth is full of cursynge & bitternesse.
* Their fete are swifte to shed bloude & Destrucciõ & wrechednes are in their wayes, & ẏ way of peace haue they not knowẽ * Ther is no fear of God before theyr eyes.

✠ But we know, ẏ what so euer the law sayeth, it sayeth it unto thẽ which are under the law, ẏ euery mouth maye be stopped: & that all the worlde maye be detter unto god, * because that by ẏ dedes of the law no flesh maye be iusti-fyed in his sight. * For by the lawe cõ meth but the knowlege of synne. But now without addinge to of the lawe, is the righteousnes which avayleth befor God declared, hauynge wytnes of the law and the prophetes: but I speake of the ryghteousnes before God, whyche commeth by the fayth on Jesus Christ unto al, and upon al them that beleue.

For here is no difference. For they are C all synners, and wãte the prayse ẏ God shulde haue of them, * but without de-seruinge are they made ryghteous even by his grace, thorow the redempcyon ẏ is done by Christe Jesu, whō God hath set forth for a * Mercyseate thorowe fayth in his bloud, to shewe the ryghteousnes which auayleth before him in ẏ he forgeueth the synnes, which were do ne before vnder the sufferaunce of God whiche he suffered, that at his tyme he myghte shewe the righteousnesse which auayleth before him, that he only might be righteous, & the righteous maker of him which is of the fayth on Jesus. ‡

Where is now then thy reioycynge? It is excluded. By what lawe? By the lawe of workes? Nay: but by the lawe of faith. * We holde therfore that a mā is iustifyed by fayth, without the workes of the lawe. Or is God the God of the Jewes onely? Is he not also ẏ God of the Heythen? Yes verely the God of the Heythen also: for so much as he is ẏ God only that iustifieth the circūcysion which is of fayth: & the vncircumcision thorow faith, Destroye we thē the law thorowe fayth? God forbyd: But we mayntayne the lawe.

¶ He declareth by the example of Abraham, that fayth sufficieth: & not the law nor the workes therof.

What shall we saye then that Abrahā * our father as pertaynynge to the fleshe, dyd fynde? This we saye: Yf Abraham were made righteous thorow workes, then hath he wherin to reioyce: but not before God. But what sayeth the scripture? * Abrahā beleued God: and that was counted vnto him for righteousnesse. Unto him that goeth about ẏ workes, is the rewarde not rekened of fauoure: but of deutye. Howbeit vnto him, ẏ goeth not aboute with workes: but beleueth on him that iustifieth the vngodly: is his faith counted for righteousnesse. Euen as Dauid sayeth also, that blessednesse is onely ẏ mans, vnto whome God coūteth ryghteousnesse without addynge to of workes: where he sayeth. * Blessed are they whose vnrighteousnesses are forgeuē: & whose synnes are couered: Blessed is ẏ man, vnto whom the LORDE imputeth no synne.

Now this blessednesse goeth it ouer the circumcisyon, or ouer the vncircumcisyon? We must nedes graunt, that Abrahams faith was counted vnto him for righteousnesse. How was it then rekened vnto him? In the circumcysion, or in the vncircūcisyon? Doutles * not in the circūcision, but in the vncircūcysion. As for the token of circumcision, * he receaued it for a seale of the righteousnesse of fayth, whiche he had yet in ẏ vncircumcysion, that he shulde be a father of all thē ẏ beleue, beynge in the vncircumcisyon, that it might be counted vnto them also for righteousnesse: and that he might be a father of circumcysion, not onely of thē that are of the circumcysion: but of them also that walke in the fotesteppes of ẏ faith, which was in the vncircumcysion of our father Abraham.

For the promes (that he shulde be ẏ heyre of the worlde) was not made vnto Abraham, or to his sede, thorowe the lawe: but thorow the righteousnesse of faith. * For yf they which are of the law be heyres, then is fayth vayne, and the promes of none effecte: for so muche as the lawe causeth but wrath. For where the law is not, there is also no transgression. Therfore was the promes made thorowe fayth, that it myght come of fauoure: wherby the promes myght be made sure vnto al the sede: not onely vnto him which is of the lawe, but also vnto him that is of the fayth of Abraham: * which is the father of vs all. As it is wrytten. ‡ I haue made the a father of many Heythen before God, whom thou hast beleued: which quyckeneth ẏ dead, & calleth it which is not, ẏ it maye be.

And he beleued vpon hope, where no thynge was to hope: that he shulde be a father of many Heythen, accordinge as it was sayde vnto him: * Euen so shall thy sede be. And he was not faynte in fayth, nother consydred his owne body, which was dead already, whyle he was almoost an hundreth yeare olde: nother the dead wombe of Sara. For he douted not in the promes of God thorowe vnbelefe: but was stronge in fayth, and gaue God the prayse, and was sure that loke * what God promyseth, he is able to make it good. And therfore was it rekened vnto him for righteousnes * But this is not wrytten onely for his sake, ẏ it was counted vnto hym: but also for our sakes, vnto whom it shalbe coūted, yf we beleue on him that raysed vp oure LORDE Jesus frō the dead. * Which was geuē for our synnes: and raysed vp for oure ryghteousnesse sake.

your selues vnto God, as they that of dead are become lyuynge, & youre mē-bres vnto God to be weapens of ryghteousnes. For synne shall not haue pow er ouer you, in so much as ye are not vn der the law; but vnder grace.

How thē? Shall we synne, because we are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace? God forbyd ✠ * Knowe ye not, that to whom ye geue ouer your selues as seruauntes to obeye, his seruauntes ye are to whom ye obeye, whether it be of synne vnto death or of obedience vnto ryghteousnes? But god be thanked, ỹ though ye haue bene the seruauntes of synne, ye are now yet obedient of harte to the ensample of the doctryne, wher vnto ye are commytted. For now ỹ ye are made fre frō synne, ye are become ỹ seruauntes of righteousnes. ✠

C ✠ I wyl speake grossly, because of the weaknes of your flesh. Lyke as ye haue geuē ouer your membres to the seruyce of vnclennesse, from one wyckednesse, to another: Euen so now also geue ouer your membres to the seruyce of ryghteousnes, that ye may be holy. For whā ye were the seruauntes of synne, ye were lowse from ryghteousnes. What frute hadde ye at that tyme in those thinges, wherof ye are now ashamed? For the ende of such thinges is death. But now that ye be fre from synne, & are become the seruauntes of God, ye haue youre frute that ye shulde be holy: but the ende is euerlasting lyfe. * For death is the rewarde of synne, but the gyfte of God is euerlastinge lyfe in Christ Jesu oure

Christ hath delyuered vs from the law and death. Paul sheweth what ỹ fleshe and outwarde man is, and calleth it the law of the membres.

A Knowe ye not brethren (for I speake vnto thē that knowe the law) how that the lawe hath power vpon a man as longe as he lyueth? * For ỹ woman ỹ is in subieccion to the man, is bounde vnto the law whyle the man lyueth: but yf the man dye, then is she loused from the law that concerneth ỹ man. * Yf she be now wyth another Math. 5. d man, whyle the man lyueth, she shalbe called a wedlocke breaker. But yf the man be dead, then is she fre from the lawe, so that she is no wedlocke breaker, yf she be with another man.

Euen so my brethren, ye also are dead vnto [illegible] by ỹ body of Christ, that ye [illegible] with another (namely wyth hym that is raysed vp from the dead) that we shuld bringe forth frute vnto God. For whan we were in the fleshe, the synfull lustes (whyche were styred vp by the law) were myghtye in oure membres to brynge forth frute vnto death. But now are we lowsed from the law, and dead vnto it, that helde vs captyue, so that we shulde serue in a new conuersacyon of the spyrete, and not in the olde conuersacyon of ỹ letter.

What shall we saye then? Is the B law synne? God forbyd: Neuertheles I knewe not synne, but by the lawe.
For I had knowen nothynge of lust, yf the lawe had not sayde: * Thou shalt Exod. 20. c not lust. But then toke synne occasyon Deut. 5. c at the commaundement, and stered vp in me all maner of lust. For wythout the lawe, synne was dead. As for me, I lyued somtyme, wythout lawe. Howbeit whan the commaundement came, synne reuyued, but I was dead. And the very same commaundement that was geuen me vnto lyfe, was founde to be vnto me an occasyon of death. For synne toke occasyon at the commaun-dement, and deceaued me, and slewe me by ỹ same cōmaundemēt. * The law in Esa. 49. d dede is holy, & ỹ cōmaūdemēt holy, iust 1. Tim. 1. b and good. Is that then which is good become death vnto me? God forbyd.
But synne that it myght appeare how ỹ it is synne, hath wrought in me death thorow good: that synne myghte be out of measure synfull by the commaunde-ment. For we knowe, that the lawe is spirituall, but I am carnall, * solde vn- Esa. 52. a der synne: because I know not what I do. For I do not that I wyll, but what I hate, that do I. Yf I do now that whiche I wyll not, then graūte I, that the law is good.

So then it is not I that do it, but C synne that dwelleth in me: for I knowe that in me, (that is, in my * fleshe) Gen. 6. a there dwelleth no good thynge. To wyl is presente wt my, but to perfourme that whiche is good, I fynde not. For the good that I wyll, do I not: but ye euell which I wyll not, that do I. Yf I do now that I wyll not, then is it not I yt do it, but synne that dwelleth in me.

Thus fynde I now by the law, that whan I wyll do good, euell is present with me. For I delyte in the lawe of God after the inwarde man: but I se another law in my membres, whych stryueth agaynst the law of my mynde, and taketh me presoner in the law of synne, which is in my membres. O wretched man that I am, who shall delyuere me from the body of this death? I thanke god thorow Jesus Christe oure LORDE. So then wyth the mynde I serue the law of God, but wyth the fleshe the law of synne.

The.viii.Chapter. ✠

¶ The law of the sprete geueth lyfe. The sprete of God maketh vs Gods chyldren and heyres with Christ. The abundaunt loue of God can not be separated.

Then is there now no damnacyon vnto them that are in Christ Jesu, whych walke not after the flesh, but after the sprete. For the lawe of the sprete (that bryngeth lyfe in Christ is a worde of the promes: where he sayeth: * Aboute this tyme wyll I come, & Gen.18.b

Howbeit it is not so with this onely B but also whan * Rebecca was w̄ chyld Gen.25.c by one (namely by our father Isaac) or euer the chyldren were borne, and hadde done nother good nor bad (that the pur was sayd thus vnto her. The greater shall serue ŷ lesse. As it is wrytten: * Ja Mala.1.a

What shall we saye then? is God then vnryghteous? God forbyd. For he sayeth vnto Moses: * I shewe mercy, Exod.33.d to whom I shewe mercy: and haue com passyon, on whom I haue compassyon.
So lyeth it not then in eny mans wyll or runnynge, but in the mercy of God.
For the scripture sayeth vnto Pharao:
* For this cause haue I stered the vp, Exod.9.c it shall come to passe in the place, where it was sayd vnto them: Ye are not my

The.x.Chapter. ✠

¶ The vnfaythfulnes of the Jewes.
Two maner of ryghteousnesses.

B BRethren, my hartes desyre, and prayer vnto God for Is rael is, that they myght be saued. For I beare them re corde, that they are * zelous Rom.9.d for Gods cause, but not with vnderstā Gala.4.b dynge. For they knowe not the ryghte ousnes which auayleth before God, and go about to mayntayne theyr own rygh teousnes: and thus they are not subdued vnto the ryghteousnes, that is of value before God. * For Christ is the ende of Mat.5.b the lawe, vnto ryghteousnes for euery one that beleueth. Moses wryteth of ẏ ryghteousnes which commeth of ẏ law * that the mā which doth the same, shal Leui.18.a lyue therin. But ẏ ryghteousnes which Gala.3.b cōmeth of fayth, speaketh on this wyse:
* Saye not in thyne harte: Who wyll Deu.30.c go vp in to heauen? (ẏ is nothynge els thē to fetch Christ down:) Or who wyl go downe in to the depe? (ẏ is nothynge els then to fetch vp Christ from ẏ dead) But what sayeth the scripture? The worde is nye the, euen in thy mouth and in thyne harte. This is the worde of fayth that we preache.

For yf thou knowlegest Jesus with B that he is the LORDE, & beleuest in thyne harte, that God hath raysed hym vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued.
✠ For yf a mā beleue from the hart, he shalbe made ryghteous: and yf a man knowlege with the mouth, he shalbe sa ued. For the scripture sayeth: Whosoe Esa.28.g uer beleueth on hym, shall not be con founded.

Here is no difference, nother of the Jewe nor of the Gentyle. For one is LORDE of al, which is ryche vnto al that call vpon hym. * For whosoeuer Joe.2.f shall call vpon the name of the LORD Act.2.d shalbe saued. But how shall they cal vp and.22.b pon hym, on whom they beleue not?
How shall they beleue on hym of whom they haue not herde? How shall they hear without a preacher? But how shal C they preach excepte they be sent? As it dient vnto ẏ Gospel For Esay sayeth:

* LORD, who beleueth our preaching Esa.53.a So then fayth cōmeth by hearynge, but Joh.12.e hearynge cōmeth by the worde of God.

But I saye: Haue they not herde?
No doute * theyr sounde wente out in Psal.19.a to all londes, and theyr wordes in to the endes of the worlde. But I say: Hath not Israel knowē? First, Moses sayeth
* I wyll prouoke thē to enuye, by thē ẏ Deu.32.c wyll I anger you. Esaye after hym is bolde, and sayeth: * I am founde of thē Esa.52.a that sought me not: and haue appeared and.65.a vnto them, that axed not after me. But vnto Israel he sayeth: * All ẏ day longe Esa.65.a haue I stretched forth my handes vnto a people that beleueth not, but speaketh agaynst me.

So then nother is he that plāteth, ony thynge, nother he that watereth, but God which geueth ŷ increace. ¶ Loue forbeareth the thynge that he maye do by the lawe. He exhorteth them to runne on forth in the course that they haue begonne.

A AM I not an Apostle? Am I not fre? * Haue I not sene Jesus Christ oure LORDE? Are not ye my worke in the LORDE? Yf I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet am I youre Apostle: for the seale of myne Apostleship are ye in the LORDE. Myne answere vnto thē that axe me, is this: Haue we not power to eate and drinke? Haue we not power also to lead about * a syster to wyfe, as well as other Apostles, and as the brethrē of the LORDE, & * Cephas? Or haue only I & Barnabas not power this to do? Who goeth a warfare at eny tyme vpō his owne wages? Who planteth a vynyarde, and eateth not of the frute therof? Who fedeth a flock, & eateth not of ẏ milke of ẏ flock?

Saye I these thynges after the ma-
B ner of men? Sayeth not the lawe the same also? For * it is wrytten in the lawe of Moses: Thou shalt not mosell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne. Doth God take thought for the oxen? Or sayeth he it not altogether for our sakes. For no doubt it is writtē for our sakes. For he that eareth, shulde eare vpon hope: and he that throsheth, shulde troshe vpon hope, that he myght be partaker of his hope. * Yf we haue sowē vnto you spiritual thynges, is it a great thynge yf we reape youre bodely thynges? But yf other be partakers of this power on you, wherfore are not we rather? * Neuertheles we haue not vsed this power, but suffre all thynges, lest we shuld hynder ẏ Gospel of Christ. Knowe ye not that they which laboure in the temple, haue theyr lyuynge of the temple: and they that wayte at ẏ altare, enioye the altare? * Euē thus also hath the LORD ordeyned, that they whiche preache the Gospell, shulde lyue of ẏ gospell. * But I haue vsed none of these thynges.

Nether wryte I therof, that it shuld
C be don so vnto me: for I had rather dye thē ẏ eny man shulde brynge my reioysynge to naught. For in that I preache thē Gospell, I nede not boast my selfe, for I must nedes do it. And wo vnto me, yf I preache not the Gospell. Yf I do it with a good wyll, I shall haue me rewarde: but yf I do it agaynst me wyl yet is the office cōmitted vnto me. Wherfore then shall I be rewarded? (Namely therfore) that I preache the Gospell, and do the same frely for naught, that I abuse not my lyberte in the Gospell. * For though I am fre from all mē, yet haue I made me self euery mās seruaūt ẏ I wynne the moo. * Unto the Jewes I am become as a Jewe, to wynne the Jewes. D * Unto them that are without law I am become as though I were without lawe (where as yet I am not without the lawe of God, but am in ẏ lawe of Christ) to wynne them that are without lawe. To the weake, am I become as weake to wynne the weake. * I am become of all fashions vnto euery man, to saue some at the least. But this I do for the Gospels sake, that I myght be be partaker therof. — Gala.2.a; 1.Cor.10.d ✠ Knowe ye not, that they whiche runne in a course, runne all, yet but one receaueth the rewarde? Runne ye so, ẏ ye maye optayne. Euery one that proueth maistry, absteineth frō al thynges, & they do it, that they may optaine a corruptible crowne, but we to optayne an * vncorruptible crowne. I therfore rūne so, not as at an vncertayne thynge. So fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre: but I tame my body, and brynge it in subiection, lest whan I preache vnto other, I my selfe be cast awaye. ✠ — 2.tim.4.b; 1.Pet.5.a

ther was ẏ man created for the womās sake, but the woman for the mās sake.

Therfore ought the womā to haue F sakes. Neuertheles nother is the man without the woman, nother the womã, without the man in the LORDE. For as the woman is of the mã, euẽ so commeth the man also by the woman, but all of God. Judge ye by your selues, whether it be comly, that a womã pray before God bareheaded? Or doth not nature teach you, that it is a shame for a mã yf he wear long heer? For hyr heer is geuẽ her to couer her withall. * But yf there be ony man amonge you ẏ hath lust to stryue, let hym know ẏ we haue no such custome, nother the congregacions of God. But this must I warne you of: I cõmende it not, ẏ ye come together not after a better maner, but after a worse. Fyrst, whan ye come together in the congregacion, I heare that there are dissensions amonge you, and I partly beleue it. * For there must be sectes amõge you, that they which are perfecte amonge you, myght be knowen.

C Now whã ye come together, ẏ LORDES supper cã not be kepte, euery mã taketh his owne supper afore, And one is hongrye, another is dronken. Haue ye not houses to eate and drynke in? Or despyse ye the congregacion of God, & shame them that haue not? What shall I say vnto you? Shall I prayse you? in this I prayse you not. ✠ That whiche I delyuered vnto you, receaued I of the LORDE. * For the LORDE Jesus the same nyght in the which he was betrayed, toke the bread and gaue thãkes and brake it, and sayde: Take ye, and eate ye, this is my body, * which is broken for you. This do in the remẽbraũce of me. After ẏ same maner also he toke the cuppe whan supper was done, and sayd: This cuppe is the new Testamẽt in my bloud, this do (as oft as ye drink it,) in the remẽbraunce of me. For as ofte as ye shall eate of this bread, and drynke of this cuppe, ye shall * shewe ẏ LORDES death, vntyl he ‡ come.

D Wherfore whosoeuer shall eate of this bread and drynk of this cuppe of ẏ LORDE vnworthely, shalbe gylty of ẏ body & bloude of ẏ LORDE. * But let a man examine hymselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, & drink of this cuppe For he that eateth and drynketh onworthely, eateth and drynketh his own dampnacion, because he maketh no dyfference of ẏ LORDES body. ✠ Therfore are there so many weake and syckE amonge you, and many slepe. * For yf we iudged oure selues, we shulde not be iudged, But whan we are iudged, we are chastened of the LORDE, that we shulde not be dãned with ẏ * worlde. it hath pleased hym. Neuertheles yf all rather a great deale the membres of the body which seme to be mooste feble, are mooste necessary: and upon those mem-bres of the body whych we thinke least honest, put we mooste honestye on: and oure uncomly partes haue moost beuit not. But God hath so measured ẏ body, & geuen moost honour unto ẏ mem-bres which had nede, that ther shuld be no stryfe in the body, but that the mem-bres shulde indifferently care one for another. And yf one membre suffer, al the membres suffre wyth hym: and yf one had not loue, I were nothig. And though I bestowed al my goodes to fede ẏ pore, and though I gaue my body euen that I burned, and yet haue not loue, it profiteth me nothynge.

Loue is pacient and curteous, loue not ouer inyquyte, but reioyceth in the trueth, beareth all thynges, bele-ueth all thynges, hopeth all thinges, suf-freth all thynges.

Though prophecienges fayle, or tun- B ges ceasse, or knowlege perishe, yet loue falleth neuer away. For our knowlege is unparfecte, and oure prophecyenge is unparfecte. But whan that which is perfecte commeth, then shall the unpar-fecte be done awaye. Whan I was a chylde, I spake as a chylde, I under-loue, these thre: but the greatest of these is loue.

The.xiiii.Chapter.

Paul sheweth that the gyfte of pro-phecyeng, interpretyng, or preaching ex-celleth the gyfte of tunges, & how they ought both to be used.

Labour for loue Couet spi- A ritual gyftes, but specially that ye may prophecie. For he that speaketh with tunges, speaketh not unto mē, but unto God: for noman heareth hym.
How beit in the sprete he speaketh mysteries. But he that prophecyeth speaketh unto men to edifyenge, and to ex-hortacion, and to comforte. He that speaketh with tunges, edifyeth himselfe: but he that prophecieth: edifieth the cōgregacion. I wold that ye all spake wyth tunges, but rather that ye prophecyed.
For greater is he that prophecieth, thē he that speaketh wyth tunges: excepte he also expounde it, that ẏ congregaciō maye haue edyfienge. But now brethrē yf I come unto you, and speake wyth tunges, what shall I profet you, excepte I speake unto you ether by reuelacyon, or by knowlege, or by prophecyenge, or by doctryne?
Lykewyse is it also in the thynges B that geue sounde, and yet lyue not: whether it be a pype or an harpe, except they geue distincte soundes from them, how shall it be knowẽ what is pypede or har pede? And yf the trompe geue an vncertayne sounde, who wyl prepare hymselfe to the battayll? Euen so ye lykewyse, whan ye speake with tunges, excepte ye speake playne wordes, how shall it be knowen what is spoken? for ye shal but speake in the ayre. So many kyndes of voyces are in ẏ worlde, and none of thẽ is without significacyon. Yf I knowe not now what ẏ voyce meaneth, I shall be an aleaunt vnto hym that speaketh, and he that speaketh, shalbe an aleaunt vnto me. Euen so ye (for so muche as ye couet spirituall gyftes) seke that ye may haue plentye to the edifienge of the congregacyon. Wherfore let hym that spea keth with tunges, praye, that he may interprete also. Yf I praye with tunges, my sprete prayeth, but my vnderston-dynge bryngeth noman frute. How shal it be then? Namely thus: I wyll praye with the sprete, and wyll pray with vnderstondynge also. I wyll synge Psalmes in the sprete, and wyll synge Psal mes with the vnderstondynge also.

C But whan thou geuest thankes with the sprete, how shall he that occupyeth the rowme of the vnlearned, saye Amen at thy geuynge of thãkes, seynge he kno weth not what thou sayest? Thou ge-uest well thankes, but the other is not edified. I thanke my God, that I speake with tunges more then ye all. Yet had I leauer in the congregacyon to speake fyue wordes with my vnderstondyng ẏ I maye enfourme other also, rather thẽ ten thousande wordes with tunges.
Phi. 4.a * Brethren be not chyldren in vnderstõdynge, howbeit as concernynge malicyousnes be chyldrẽ, but in vnderstõdynge be perfecte. In the lawe it is wrytten:
Esa. 28.b * With other tũges and with other lip pes wyll I speake vnto this people, and yet shall they not heare me, sayeth the Esa. 2.b LORDE. * Therfore are tunges for a token, not to them that beleue, but to them that beleue not. Contrary wyse, prophecyenge, not to them ẏ beleue not, but to them which beleue.
D Yf the whole cõgregacion now cam together in to one place, & spake all wt tunges, & there cam in they that are vn learned, or they which beleue not, shulde they not saye, that ye were out of youre wittes? But yf all prophecied, and there cam in one ẏ beleueth not, or one vnlear ned, he shulde be rebuked of thẽ all, and iudged of all, & so shuld the secret of his hart be opened, & so shulde he fal downe vpõ his face, worshippyng god, & know leginge, that of a treuth God is in you.
How is it then brethren? Whã ye come together, euery one hath a psalme, hath doctryne, hath a tunge, hath a reuelaciõ hath an interpretacyon. Let all be done to edifyenge. Yf ony man speake with tunges, let hym do it hym selfe beynge ẏ seconde, or at the moost hymselfe beyng the thyrd, and one after another, and let one interprete it. But yf there be not an interpreter, then let hym kepe sylence in the cõgregacyõ, howbeit let hym speake to hymselfe and to God. As for the prophetes, let two or thre speake * and let ẏ 1. Joh. 4.a other iudge. But yf ony reuelacyon be made vnto another that sytteth, thẽ let the fyrst holde his peace.
Ye maye all prophecie one after ano E ther, that they all maye learne, and that all maye haue comforte. And the sprete of the prophetes, ar subiecte vnto ẏ pro phetes. For god is not a god of discorde * but of peace, lyke as in all congregaci Rom. 15.d ons of the sayntes. * Let your wyues 1 Cor. 11.a kepe sylence in the congregacyon, for it 1. Tim. 2.b shal not be permitted vnto thẽ to speake but to be vnder obedience, * as the lawe Gene. 3.c sayeth also. But yf they wyll learne ony thynge, let them aske theyr husbandes at home. For it becommeth not wemen to speake in the congregacyon.
Or sprange the worde of God from a monge you? Or is it come vnto you one ly? Yf ony man thynke hymselfe to be a prophete, or spirituall, let hym knowe what I wryte vnto you, for they are the commaundementes of the LORDE.
But yf ony mã be ignoraunt, let hym be ignoraunt. Wherfore brethren, couet to prophecy, and forbyd not to speak with tunges. * Let all thinges be done honest Col. 2.a ue also accepted, & in ẏ whi che ye stonde, by ẏ which also ye are saued) after what maner I preached it vnto you, yf ye haue kept it except ye haue beleued in vayne. For first of all I delyuered vnto you ẏ which I also receaued, how ẏ Christ * dyed for Esa. 53.b of mo thē fyue hundreth brethrē at once, wherof there are yet many alyue, but so me are fallen aslepe. Afterward was he sene of James, then of all the Apostles.

Last of all was he sene of me also, as of Ephe.3.b one borne out of due tyme. * For I am the leest of the Apostles, whiche am not Act.8.a worthye to be called an Apostle, * be-and.9.a cause I persecuted the congregacyon of God. But by the grace of God I am yͭ I am. And his grace in me hath not bēn B vayne, but I haue laboured more thē they all, howbeit not I, but the grace of God which is with me. Now whether it be I or they, thus haue we preached, and thus haue ye beleued.

But yf Christ be preached, that he is rysen from the dead, how saye then some amonge you, that there is no resur reccyon of the dead? Yf ther be no resur reccyon of the dead, then is Christe not rysen. Yf Christ be not rysen, thē is our preachynge in vayne, and your fayth is also in vayne: yee & we are founde false witnesses of God, because we haue testified agaynst God, that he hath raised vp Christ, whō he hath not raysed vp yf the dead ryse not agayne. For yf yͤ dead ryse not agayne, then is Christ also not rysen agayne. But yf Christ be not rysē agayne, then is your fayth in vaine, and ye are yet in your synnes: they also that are fallen a slepe in Christ, are peryshed.
Yf in this lyfe onely we hope on Christ then are we of all men the moost myserable.

C But now is Christe rysen from the Col.1.b dead, and is become * the fyrst frutes of them that slepe. For by one man cōmeth death, and by one man the resurreccyon of the dead. For as they all dye in Adā, so shall they all be made alyue in Christ, but euery one in his order. The fyrst is Christe, then they that belonge vnto Christe, whan he commeth then yͤ ende, whan he shall delyuer vp the kyngdome vnto God the father: whan he shall put downe all rule, and all superiorite, & po wer. * For he must raygne, tyll he haue psa 109.a put all his enemyes vnder his fete. The Heb.1.b last enemye yͭ shalbe destroyed, is death, and.2.b for he hath put all thynges vnder his fete. But whan he sayeth, yͭ all thynges are put vnder hym, it is manyfest yͭ he is excepted, which put al thynges vnder hym. Whan all thynges shalbe subdued vnto hym, then shall the sonne hymselfe also be subiecte vnto hym, which put al thynges vnder hym, that God maye be all in all.

Or els what do they which are bap D tysed ouer the dead, yf the dead ryse not at all? Why are they thē baptysed ouer the dead? and why stonde we in ioper-dy euery houre? by our reioycyng which I haue in Christe Jesu our LORDE, I dye dayly. That I haue fought with for to morowe we shall dye. Be not ye de Sap.2 ceaued. Euell speakynges corrupt good maners. Awake right vp, and synne not for some haue not the knowlege of god This I saye to your shame.

But many myght saye: How shall the dead aryse? and with what maner of body shall they come? Thou foole, * that which thou sowest is not quyc- Joh.12 kened, excepte it dye. And what sowest thou? thou sowest not yͤ bodye yͭ shalbe, but a bare corne, namely of wheat, or of of some other. But God geueth it a body as he wyll, and vnto euery one of the sedes his owne body.

All flesh is not one maner of flesh E but there is one maner fleshe of men, another of beastes, another of fysshes, another of byrdes. And there are heauenly bodyes, and there are earthy bodies: but the heauenly haue one glory, and the earthy another. * The Sonne hath one Mat.13 clearnes, the Moone hath another clear nesse and the starres another clearnesse, for one starre excelleth another in clearnesse: Euen so the resurreccyon of the dead. It is sowen in corrupcyon, & shall ryse in vncorruption: It is sowen in dis honoure, and shall ryse in glorye: It is sowen in weaknesse, and shal ryse in po wer: It is sowen a naturall body, and shall ryse a spirituall body.

Yf there be a naturall body, there is a spirituall body also. As it is written:
* The fyrst man Adam was made in to Gen.2 a naturall lyfe, and the last Adam in to a spirituall lyfe. Howbeit the spirituall body is not the fyrst, but the naturall, & then the spirituall. The fyrst man is of the earth, earthy, the seconde man is from heauen, heauenly. As the earthy is, suche are they also that are earthy: & as the heauenly is, suche are they also yͭ are heauenly. And as we haue borne the ymage of the earthy, so shall we beare the ymage of the heavenly also. This I say brethren, that flesh & bloude can not en-mined this with my selfe, that I wolde not come agayn to you in heuinesse. For yf I make you sory, who is it that shall make me glad, but the same which is made sory by me? And the same haue I wrytten vnto you, lest whan I come, I shulde take heuynes of them, of whome I ought to reioyce: for so much as I haue this confydence in you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. For in great trouble and anguyshe of harte wrote I vnto you with many teares, not that ye shulde be sory, but that ye myghte per-cially vnto you.

B But yf eny man haue caused sorow, ỹ same hath not made me sory, but par-ye oughte the more to forgeue hym and to cōforte him, lest he be swalowed vp horte you, that ye shewe loue vpon him.

For therfore dyd I wryte vnto you also, that I myghte knowe the profe of you, whether ye were obediēt in all thin eny thyng, I forgeue him also. For I al so, yf I forgeue ought vnto eny man, ỹ forgeue I for youre sakes in the rowme of Christ, lest we shulde be preuented of Sathan. For his toughtes are not vn-

Macedonia. Yet thankes be vnto God, which alwaye geueth vs the victory in are vnto God ỹ good sauour of Christ both amōge thē that are saued, & amōg thē that perysshe. * To these, the sauour of death vnto death: but vnto the other, the sauoure of lyfe vnto lyfe. And who is mete therto? For we are not as many are, which choppe & chaunge with the worde of God, but euen out of pure-nesse, and out of God, in the syghte of God, so speake we in Christ.

The.iiii.Chapter.

¶ A true preacher is diligent, he corrup teth not ỹ word of god, he preacheth not

A Therfore seyng we haue such 2.Cor.5.a But this treasure haue we in * ear then vessels, that the power which excel leth might be of God, & not of vs. We are troubled on euery syde, yet are we not without shift. We are in pouertye, but not vtterly without somwhat. We we are oppressed, neuertheles we perysh Gala.6.b not. * We alwayes beare aboute in our body the dyenge of the LORDE Je sus, that ẏ lyfe also of ẏ LORD Jesus Rom.8.e myght appeare in oure body. ✠ * For we which lyue, are alwayes delyuered vnto death for Jesus sake, that the lyfe also of Jesus might appeare in our mor tall fleshe.

C Therfore is death now myghtye in vs, but lyfe in you. ✠ ✠ But seynge that we haue ẏ same sprete of faith (ac Psal.115.a cordynge as it is wrytten: * I beleued, and therfore haue I spoken.) we also be leue, & therfore we speake, for we know that he, whiche raysed vp the LORD Jesus, shall rayse vs vp also by the mea nes of Jesus, and shal set vs with you.
For all thynges do I for youre sakes, 2.Cor.1.b * that the plenteous grace by the than kesgeuynge of many, may redounde to wery, but though oure outwarde man be corrupte, yet the inwarde is renewed Esa.29.a daye by daye. * For our trouble, which Rom.8.c is but temporal and lighte, worketh an exceadynge and an eternall weyghte of glorye vnto vs, whiche loke not on the thynges that are sene, but on the which are not sene. For the thynges which are sene, are temporal: but the thynges that are not sene, are eternall. ✠

The.v.Chapter.

The rewarde for sufferyng troubles

A We knowe surely, that yf our 2.Cor.4. * earthy house of this dwel lynge were destroyed, we ha ue a buyldynge ordeyned of God, an house not made w handes, but euerlastynge in heauē. * And Rom.8. in the same, sighe we also after our mā syon, which is from heauen: and longe Apo.16. to be clothed therwith, so yet, * yf that we be founde clothed, & not naked. For 2.Pet.1. as longe as we are in * this tabernacle, we syghe and are greued, for we hadde rather not be vnclothed, but to be clo thed vpon, that mortalite might be swa lowed vp of lyfe. But he that hath or Rom.8. deyned vs for this, is God. * whiche 2.Cor.1. hath geuen vs the earnest of the sprete.
Therfore are we alway of good cheare and knowe, that as longe as we dwell here in ẏ body, we are not at hom with the LORDE: for we walke in fayth, and se hym not. Neuertheles we are of good cōforte, and had leuer to be absent from the body, and to be at home with the LORDE.

B Wherfore, whether we be at home or from home, we endeuoure our selues Mat. to please him. * For we must al appear Ro.14. before the iudgemēt seat of Christ, that euery one maye receaue in his body, ac cordynge to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad. ✠ Seynge then that we knowe how that the LORDE is to be feared we deale fayre with men, but we are knowne well ynough vnto God: I truste also, that we are knowne in youre conscience. We prayse not our selues agayn vnto you, but geue you an occasyon to reioyce of vs, that ye maye haue to reioyce agaynst them, which re ioyce after the outwarde appearaunce, and not after the harte. For yf we do to muche, we do it vnto God: yf we kepe measure, we do it for youre sakes. For the loue of Christ cōstrayneth vs, in as muche as we thus iudge, that yf one be dead for all, thē are all dead. * And ther fore dyed he for all, ẏ they which lyue, shulde not hence forth lyue vnto them sel ues, but vnto hym, whiche dyed for thē and rose agayne. ✠

C ✠ Therfore hence forth knowe we noman after the flesshe: and though we haue knowne Christ also after the flesh yet know we him now so nomore. Ther fore yf eny man be in Christ, he is a new creature. Olde thynges are past awaye that gathered muche, hath not the more and he that gathered lytle, wanted no-thynge. Thankes be vnto God, whiche put in the harte of Titus, the same diligence towarde you. For he accepted the requeste in dede, yee he was rather so well wyllyng, that of his owne accorde he came vnto you.

We haue sēt with hym that brother C whose prayse is in the Gospell thorowe out all the congregacyōs. Not only that but he is chosen also of the congregaci-ons, to be a felowe with vs in our iour ney, for this beniuolence that is myuistred by vs vnto the prayse of the LOR DE, & to steare vp your prōpte mynde & to beware lest eny man report euel of vs because of this plēteousnes, whiche is ministred by vs: * and therfore make Rom.12 we prouisyon for honest thynges, not onely before the LORDE, but also before men.
We haue sent with them also a bro ther of ouers, whom we haue ofte proand diligent in many thynges, but now much more diligent. And this haue we done in greate hope towarde you, whe ther it be for Titus sake (whiche is my felowe and helper amonge you) or for oure brethren (whiche are Apostles of the congregacions, and the prayse of Christ.) Shewe now the profe of youre loue and of * our boastynge of you vnto these, and openly in the syghte of the congregacyons.

The.ix.Chapter.

¶ He putteth them in remembraunce to helpe the poore sayntes at Ierusalē ac-

B O F the * handreachynge vnto the sayntes, it is no nede for me to wryte vnto you: for I knowe youre redynes of mynde, where of I boast my selfe amonge them of Macedonia, and saye: Achaia was redy a yeare ago. And youre feruentes hath prouoked many.
Neuertheles yet haue we sent these bre thrē, lest our reioycynge ouer you shulde be in vayn in this behalfe, that ye might be ready, as I haue reported of you: lest whā they of Macedonia come with me and fynde you vnprepared, we (I wyll not say ye) shuld be ashamed in this pre-sumpcyon of boastynge.

B Wherfore I thought it necessary to exhorte the brethrē, to come before hāde vnto you, for to prepare this blessynge promysed afore, that it might be ready, so that it be a blessyng, and not a defrau dynge. ✠ This I thynke: * that he whiche soweth lytle shall reape lytle also: and he that soweth plenteously, shal lykewise reape plenteously euery one ac cordynge as he hath purposed in his harte, not grudgyngly, or of compulsyon.
* For God loueth a chearefull geuer.
God is able to make you rych in all gra ce y ye in al thinges hauinge sufficiēt to y vttermost, may be rych to al maner of good workes. As it is writtē: * He hath sparsed abrode, & hath geuē to y poore, his righteousnes remayneth for euer.
C He that geueth sede vnto the sower shall mynister breade also for fode, and * shal multiplye your sede, and increase the frutes of youre righteosnes, that in all thynges ✠ ye maye be made ryche, vnto all synglenes, whiche causeth tho-rowe vs thākesgeuynge vnto God. For the hādreachynge of this collectyon not onely supplyeth the nede of the sayntes but also is abūdaūt herin, that for this laudable ministracyō many might geue thankes vnto God, and prayse God for youre obedient professynge of the Gos-pell of Christ, and for your synglenes in distributynge vnto them and to all men and in theyr prayer for you, which lōge after you, for the abundaunt grace of God in you. Thankes be vnto God for his vnoutspeakeable gyfte.

The.xii.Chapter.

Paull is takē vp in to the thirde heauen, and heareth wordes not to be spoken of.

B It profyteth me nothing (no

And though I wolde boaste my selfe, I man shulde thynke of me aboue that he seyth in me, or heareth of me. * And lest I shulde exalte my selfe out of measure because of the hye reuelacyons, there is a warnynge geuen vnto my fleshe, euen the messaunger of Sathan, to buffet me that I shulde not exalte my selfe out of measure: for the which I besoughte the is made perfecte thorow weacknes. Ve ry glad therfore wyll I reioyce in my weaknesses, that the strength of Christ maye dwell in me.

B Therfor I am cōtēt in infirmityes in rebukes, in necessities, in persecucyōs in anguishes for Christes sake: for whā I am weake, then am I stronge. I am become a foole in boastynge my selfe:

the tokēs of an Apostle wrought amōg you, with all pacyence, with signes, and with wōders and with myghty dedes.
For what is it, wherin ye ar inferioures to the other congregacyons? except it be that I haue not ben greuous vnto you.
Forgeue me this wrōge. Behold, I am ready the thyrde tyme to come vnto you and wyll not be chargeable vnto you.
* For I seke not youres, but you. For Actu.20.g

I sent a brother: dyd Titus defraude you? Haue we not walked in one sprete?
Wente we not in lyke fotesteppes? A gayne, thynke ye that we excuse our sel ues? We speake in Christ in the syghte of God. But all this (dearly beloued) is done for youre edifienge. For I fear, lest whan I come, I shall not fynde you suche as I wolde: and lest ye shall fynde me suche as ye wolde not: * lest there be Gala.5.c amonge you, debates, enuyenges, wra cyally with them which were in reputacyon, lest I shulde runne or had runne in

The .ii. Chapter.

He putteth them in mynd of the godly conuersacyon that he led amonge them whan he preached the Gospell unto them, thanketh God that they receaue his wordes so frutefully and excuseth his absence.

For ye youre selues (brethren) A know of our intraunce vnto you, how that it was not in vayne, but as we had suffred afore, and * were shamefully intreated at Philippos (as ye knowe) we were bolde in our God, * to speake vnto you the Gospell of God with muche stryuynge. For oure exhortacyon was not to brynge you to errours nor yet to vnclennes, nother was it with gyle but as we are alowed of God, that the Gospell shulde be commytted vnto vs to preache, euen so we speake, * not as though we wolde please men, but God which tryeth ouer hartes.

For we haue not gone aboute with flatterynge wordes (as ye knowe) nor wayted for our owne profyt (* God is recorde) nother sought we prayse of men, nother of you, nor of eny other, whan we myght haue bene chargeable vnto you as the Apostles of Christe, but we were tender amonge you.

Lyke as a norse norysheth hir children, B euen so had we hartely affeccyon towarde you & wolde with good wyl haue dealte vnto you, not onely the Gospell of God but our lyues also, because ye are deare vnto vs.

✠ Ye remembre brethren oure laboure and trauayle. * For daye and nyghte wrought we (because we wolde not be chargeable vnto eny of you) and preached the Gospell of God amonge you. Ye are witnesses, and so is God, howe holyly & iustly & vnblameable we behaued oure selues amonge you that beleue as ye knowe, how that as a father his chyldren, euen so exhorted we and comforted and besought euery one of you, * that ye wolde walke worthely before God, whiche hath called you vnto his kyngdome and glory.

For this cause thanke we God without ceassynge, because that whan ye receaued of vs the worde of the preachynge of God, ye receaued it not as the worde of men, but (euen as it is of a treuth) the worde of God, whiche worketh in you that beleue. ☩

For ye brethren are become the folo C wers of * the congregacyons of God which in Jewry are in Christe Jesu, so that ye haue suffred euē lyke thynges of youre kynsmen, as they haue suffred of the Jewes. Which as they put ẏ LORDE Jesus to death, & theyr owne prophetes, euen so haue they persecuted vs also, and please not God, and are cōtrarye to al mē, *forbyddyng vs to speake vnto the Heythen that they myght be saued, to fulfyll theyr synnes alwayes: for the wrath is come vpon them alreadye vnto the vttermoost.

But we (brethren) for as muche as we haue bene kepte from you for a season, as concernynge the bodely presence, but not in the harte, we haue haisted the more with great desyre to se you personally. Therfore wolde we haue come vnto you, (I Paul) two tymes, *but Sathan withstode vs. For who is our hope, or ioye, or crowne of ‡ reioysynge? are not ye it in the syght of oure LORDE Jesus Christ at his commynge? The.iii.Chapter.

¶ He sheweth how greatly he was reioyced, whā Timothe tolde him of theyr fayth and loue.

B Wherfore sence we coulde no longer forbeare, we thought it good to remayne at * Athens alone, and sent Timotheus our brother and mynister of God, and our helper in the Gospell of Christ, to stablysh you and to conforte you in youre fayth * ẏ noman shuld be moued in these troubles: (‡ for ye youre selues knowe that we are euen appoynted therunto. And whan we were with you, we tolde you before, that we shulde suffre tribulacyon, euen as it is come to passe, and as ye knowe.) For this cause seynge I coulde no longer forbeare, I sent, that I myght haue knowlege of your faith, lest happly ẏ tempter had tempted you, and lest oure laboure had ben invayne.

B But now that Timotheus is come from you vnto vs, and hath shewed vs of youre fayth and loue, and how that ye haue alwaye good remembraūce of vs, desyrynge to se vs, as we also longe to se you: therfore brethren we haue consolacyon in you, in all our trouble and necessite thorow youre fayth. For now are we alyue, yf ye stōde stedfast in ẏ LORDE. ✠ For what thankes can we recompence to God agayne for you because of this ioye that we haue concernynge you before our God? We praye exceadyngly daye and nyght, that we myghte se you presently, and fulfyll that which is lackynge in your fayth.

God hymselfe oure father and oure LORDE Jesus Christ gyde oure iourney vnto you. But the LORDE increace you, & make you flowe ouer in loue one towarde another, and towarde all men (euen as we do towarde you) that youre hartes maye be stable and vnblameable in holynes before God our father, at the cōmynge of our LORDE Jesus Christe with all his sayntes. ✠

¶ He exhorteth them to stedfastnesse, to kepe them selues from synne and vnclenly conuersacion, to loue one another: rebuketh ydelnesse, and speaketh of the resurrecyon.

Furthermore I beseke you brethren, and exhorte you in the LORDE Jesus, that ye increace more and more, euen as ye haue receaued of vs, how ye ought to * walke & to please God. For ye knowe what commaundementes we gaue you by our LORDE Jesus Christ. For this is the * wyll of God, euen youre sanctifienge, ẏ ye shulde absteyne from whoredome ‡ that euery one of you shuld knowe how to kepe his vessell in holynes and honoure, and not in the lust of concupiscence, * as ẏ Heythen which knowe not God. And that noman go to farre and defraude his brother in bargenynge. For the LORDE is the auenger of all suche thynges, as we haue sayd and testifyed vnto you afore tyme. The .ii. Chapter.

¶ Lyke as in the fyrst chapter, so here he exhorteth him to be constant in trouble, to suffre manly, and to byde fast in the wholsome doctryne of our LORDE Jesus Christ.

Thou therfore my sonne, be stronge thorowe the grace which is in Christ Iesu And what thinges thou hast herd of my by many witnesses, * the same cõmytte thou vnto faithful men, whiche are apte to teache other. Thou therfore suffre affliccyons as a good souldyer of Iesu Christ. No man that warreth, tangleth hymsel fe with worldly busynesses, and that because he wolde please hym, whiche hath chosen hym to be a souldyer. And though a mã stryue for a mastrye, yet is he not crowned, excepte he stryue laufully. * The husbandman that laboureth, must fyrst enioye the frutes. Cõsydre what I say. The LORDE shall geue the vnderstõdynge in all thynges.

This is a true sayenge: * Yf we be dead with hym, we shall lyue with hym also: * Yf we be pacyent, we shall also reygne with hym: * Yf we denye hym, he also shall denye vs: * Yf we beleue not, yet abydeth he faythfull, he can not denye hymselfe. Of these thynges put thou them in remẽbraunce, and testifye before the LORDE, that they stryue not aboute wordes, whiche is to no profyte but to peruerte the hearers.

Studye to shew thy selfe vnto God a laudable * workman, that nedeth not to be ashamed, deuydynge the worde of treuth iustly * As for vngoostly & vayn talkynges, eschewe them: for they helpe much to vngodlynes, & their worde fretteth as doth a canker: Of whose nõbre is * Hymeneos & Philetus, which as cõcernynge ẏ treuth haue erred, sayeng, that the resurreccyon is paste already, and haue destroyed the faith of diuerse personnes.

But ẏ sure grõude of God standeth fast and hath this seale: * The LORDE knoweth them that are his, and let euery man that calleth vpõ the name of Christ, departe from iniquite. Notwithstondynge * in a great mans house are not onely vessels of golde and of syluer, but also of wood and of earth: some for honoure, & some to dishonoure. But yf a man pourge hymselfe from such felowes, he shalbe a vessel sanctyfyed vnto honoure, mete for the LORDE, and prepared vnto al good workes.

* Flye thou the lustes of youth, but folowe righteousnes, faith, loue, peace, with all thẽ that call vpon the LORDE with pure harte. * As for folyshe questions and such as teach not, put thẽ from the: for thou knowest that they do but gendre stryfe. The seruaunt of the LORD ought not to stryue, but to be gentle vnto euery man: * apte to teach, one that can forbeare the euel, one that can * with mekenesse enfourme them that resist: yf God at ony tyme wil geue them repentaunce for to know ẏ treuth and to turne agayne from the snare of the deuell, which are holden in prisõ of hym at his wyll.

The.ii.Chapter.

Christ is our aduocate. Of true loue, and how it is tryed.

A My lytle chyldren, these thyn-ges wryte I vnto you, that ye shulde not synne: and yf ony man synne, we haue an Hebr.7.d. * aduocate with the father, euen Jesus Christ which is ryghteous: Roma.3.c * and he it is that optayneth grace for oure synnes: not for oure synnes onely. but also for the synnes of all the world.
And here by are we sure that we knowe hym, yf we kepe his commaundementes.
Joh.4.c * He the sayeth: I know hym, & kepeth not his commaundementes, is a lyar and the trueth is not in him. But who so ke peth his worde, in hym is the loue of Joh.13.d God perfecte in dede. * Hereby knowe ‡1 Pe. 2.c we that we are in him. ‡ He that sayeth Joh.13.b he abydeth in hym, oughte to walke euē as he walked. ‡

Brethren I wryte no new commaū dement vnto you, but that olde commaun dement, whyche ye haue herde from the begynnynge. The olde commaundemēt is the worde, which ye haue herde from Joh. 13. d. the begynnynge. Agayne, a * new com-and.15.b maundemēt wryte I vnto you, a thinge 2.Joh. 1.a that is true in hym and also in you: for the darknes is past, and the true lyghte now shyneth.

B He that sayeth he is in lyghte, and hateth his brother, is yet in darknes. He that loueth his brother, abydeth in the lyght, and there is none occasion of euel in hym. But he that hateth his brother, is in darknes, & walketh in darknes, & can not tell whyther he goeth, for the darknesse hath blynded his eyes.

Luce.24.d Babes, I wryte vnto you, * ẏ your Actu.4.a synnes are forgeuen you for his names sake. I wryte to you fathers, how ẏ ye haue knowen hym which is from ẏ begynnynge. I wryte vnto you yonge mē, how that ye haue ouercome ẏ wycked.
I wryte vnto you lytle chyldren how ẏ ye haue knowen the father. I haue wrytten to you fathers, how ẏ ye haue knowē hym, whiche is from the begyn nynge. I haue wrytten vnto you yonge men, how that ye are stronge: and the worde of God abydeth in you, and ye haue ouercome the wycked.

C He that ye loue not the worlde, nother the thynges that are in the worlde.
Yf ony man loue the worlde, the loue of the father is not in hym: for all that is in the worlde (namely the lust of ẏ fleshe and the lust of the eyes, and the pryde of lyfe) is not of the father, but of ẏ world.
Psal.89.d And * the worlde passeth awaye and ẏ lust therof. But he that fulfylleth ‡ the 1.Cor.7

Lytle chyldren, it is the last houre & Esa.40 (as ye haue herde that * Antichrist shall ‡Joh. come) euen now are ther many become 1.Tes.4 Antichristes already: wherby we know *ma that it is ẏ last houre. They wente out Joh.5.

yf they had bene of vs, they wolde no Joh.13. doute haue continued with vs. But ‡ ẏ Actu.20. they may be knowen, how that they are ‡1 cor 11 not all of vs.

But ye haue the * anoyntinge of Hebr.1.
him that is holy, & ye know al thinges.
I haue not wryttē vnto you, as though ye knewe not the trueth but ye know it, and are sure, that no lye cōmeth of the trueth. Who is a lyar, but he that deny D eth that Jesus is Christ? The same is the Antichrist, that denyeth the father & the sonne. * Whosoeuer denyeth ẏ sōne, the same hath not ẏ father. Loke what Joh.14. ye haue herde now frō ẏ beginning let ẏ same abide in you. Yf ẏ which ye herde frō ẏ beginning shal remayn in you, thē shall ye also abyde in the sonne & in the father. And this is the promes that he hath promysed vs, euen eternall lyfe.

This haue I wrytten vnto you con cernynge them that deceaue you. * And Esa.54. the anoyntynge which ye haue receaued Joh.6.e of hym, dwelleth in you: and ye nede not 14.c.16. that ony man teache you, but as the a-noyntynge teacheth you all thinges, euē so is it true, & is no lye. And as it hath taught you, euen so abyde ye therin.
And now babes, abyde in hym, ẏ whan Hep.5. he shall appeare, we may be bolde * and not be made ashamed of him at his com mynge. Yf ye know that he is ryghte-ous, know also that he which doth righ teousnes, is borne of hym.

The Epistle

of the Apostle S. Paul vnto the Hebrues.

The fyrst Chapter.

How God dealt louingly with them of the olde tyme in sendynge them hys prophetes, but much more mercy hath he shewed vs in that he sent vs his own sonne, Of the moost excellēt glory of Jesus Christ, which in all thynges is lyke to his father.

A GOD in tyme past diuersly and many wayes, spake vnto the fathers by prophetes, but in these laste dayes he hath spoken vnto vs Mat.28.c by his sonne, * whom he hath made heyre of all thynges, by whome also he made the Sapi.7.d. worlde * Which (sonne) beyng ẏ brightnes of his glory, & ẏ very ymage of his substaunce, bearing vp al thynges with Ephe.1.a the worde of his power, * hath in hys own personne pourged our synnes, and is set on the ryghte hande of the mayestye on hye: beynge euen as much more excellent thē ẏ angels, as he hath optayned a more excellent name then they.

Psal.2.b For vnto which of the angels sayd he at ony tyme: ‡ Thou are my sonne, this daye haue I begotten the? And agayn: * I wyll be his father, & he shalbe my sonne: And agayne, whan he bryngeth in the fyrste begotten sonne in to ẏ worlde, he sayeth: ‡ And all the angels of God shall worshippe him. And of the angels he sayeth: * He maketh his angels spretes, and his mynystres flāmes of fyre. But vnto the sonne he sayeth * God, thy seate endureth for euer and euer: the cepter of thy kyngdome is a ryghte cepter. Thou hast loued ryghteousnes, and hated inyquyte: wherfore God (which is thy God) hath annoynted the with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy felowes. * And thou LORDE in the begynnynge hast layed the foundacyon of the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thy handes, * they shall perysshe, but thou shalt endure: they all shall waxe olde as doth a garmēt, & as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be chaunged. But thou art ẏ same, and thy yeares shall not fayle. Unto which of the angels sayd he at ony tyme: * Syt thou on my ryght hāde, tyl I make thyn enemyes thy fotestole? Are they nat all mynistrynge spretes, sent to mynister for theyre sakes, which shalbe heyres of saluacion?

The .ii. Chapter.

He exhorteth vs to be obedient vnto the new law which Christ hath geuē vs & not to be offēded at the infirmyte and lowe degre of Christ: & why: it was necessary that for our sakes he shulde take such an humble state vpon him, that he myght be lyke vnto his brethren.

WHerfore we oughte to geue ẏ A more hede vnto the thynges which we haue herde, lest we perisshe. For yf the worde * which was spoken by angels, was stedfast: and euery transgression and disobedience receaued a iust recōpēce of rewarde, how shal we escape, yf we despise so great a saluaciō: which * after that it beganne to be preached by the LORDE hymselfe, ‡ was cōfyrmed vpon vs, by thē that herd it, God bearing witnesse therto, with * tokens, wonders and dyuerse powers, and gyftes of the holy goost accordyng to his owne wyll,

B For unto the angels hath he not subdued the worlde to come, wherof we speake. But one in a certayne place wit nesseth and sayeth: * What is man, yt Psal.8.b of man, that thou vysitest hym? After thou haddest for a lytle seasō made him him with honoure & glorye, and hast set hym aboue the workes of thy handes.

Thou hast put all thynges in subiectyof theyr saluacion perfecte thorow suf-

Christ is oure hye preste, the seate of grace, and more excellent then the hye prestes of the olde lawe.

A Seynge then that we haue a great hye preste, euen Jesus the sonne of God, which is entred in to heauen, let vs holde our professyon: for we haue not an hye prest, which cā not haue cōpassyon on our infirmityes, but was in all poyntes tempted, lyke as we are, but * without synne. Let vs therfore go boldly vnto the ‡ seate of grace, that we maye receaue mercy, and fynde grace to helpe in the tyme of nede.

✠ For euery hye prest ye is takē frō amōge men is ordeyned for mē in thynges pertaynyng to God, * to offre gyftes and sacrifices for synne: which can haue compassion on the ignoraunt, and on them that are out of the waye, for so much as he hymselfe also is cōpassed aboute with infirmyte. Therfore is he bounde to offre for synnes as well for hymselfe as for the people. And no man taketh the honoure vnto hym selfe, but he that is called of God * as was Aaron.

Euen so Christe glorifyed not hym selfe to be made hye prest, but he ye said, vnto hym: ‡ Thou art my sonne, this daye haue I begotten the. As he sayeth also in another place: * Thou arte a prest for euer after the order of Melchisedech. ✠ * And in the dayes of his fleshe, he offred vp prayers and supplicacions, with strōge cryenge and teares vnto him that was able to saue him frō death: and was herde also, because he had God in honoure. * and though he was Gods sonne, yet learned he obedience, by those thynges which he suffred. And he beynge made perfecte, became ye cause of euerlastynge saluacyon, vnto al them that obeye hym, and is called of God an hye prest after the order of Melchisedech. Wherof we haue many thynges to saye, which are harde to be vttered because ye are dull of hearynge.
* For where as concernynge the tyme ye ought to be teachers, yet haue ye nede agayne, that we teache you the fyrst preceptes of the worde of God: and are become such as haue nede of mylke, & not stronge meate. For euery one that is fed yet with mylke, is vnexpert in the word of righteousnes, for he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth vnto thē that are perfect, which thorow costume haue theyr wyttes exercysed to iudge both good and euell.

The goeth forth with the thynge that he begāne in the latter ende of the fyfte chapter, and exhorteth thē not to faynt, but to be stedfast & pacient: for so much as God is sure in his promesse.

A Wherfore let vs leaue the doctryne pertaynynge to ye begynnynge of a Chrysten lyfe, and let vs go vnto perfection: and now nomor laye the fundacion of repentaunce from dead workes, and of fayth towarde God, of baptyme, of doctryne, of layenge on of handes, of resurreccyon of the dead, & of eternall iudgement. The.vii.Chapter.

¶ He cōpareth the presthode of Christ vnto Melchisedech, but to be farre more excellent.

This Melchisedech * kynge of Salē (which beynge prest of the moost hye God, met Abrahā as he turned agayne from the slaughter of ye kynges, and blessed hym, vnto whom Abraham also gaue tythes of al the goodes) fyrst is by interpretacyon kynge of ryghtousnes: after that is he kynge of Salem also (that is to saye, kynge of peace) without father, without mother, without kynne, & hath nother begynnynge of dayes nor ende of lyfe: but is lykened vnto the sonne of God, and contynueth a prest for euer. promes. * For yet ouer a lytle whyle, & then he that shall come, wyll come and wyll not tary. * But the iust shall lyue by his faith: And yf he withdrawe, him selfe awaye, my soule shal haue no plea was sayde: In Isaac shall thy sede be called: For he considered, that God was able to rayse vp agayne from the dead.

Therfore receaued he hym for an en-sample.
* By faith Isaac blessed Jacob & Gen. 27.d Esau, concernynge thynges to come.
* By faith Jacob, whã he was dy Gen.48.c cernynge his bones.

* By fayth Moses whan he was Exod.2.a

A A Fter this I loked, & behold, a dore was open in heauen, and the fyrst voyce which I herde, was as it were of a trompet talkynge wyth me, which sayd: come vp hydder, and I wyl shewe the thynges which muste be ful-fylled herafter. And immediatly I was in the sprete: and beholde, a seate was set in heauen, and one sat on the seate.
And he that sat, was to loke vpon lyke

The.v. Chapter.

The seyth ÿ lambe opening the boke, and therfore the foure beastes, the. xxiiii open the boke, and to loose the seales therof? And noman in heauen nor in earth nother vnder the earth, was able to open the boke, nother to loke theron.

And I wepte much, because nomā was founde worthye to open and to rede the wente out another horse that was reed, and power was geuen vnto hym that sat theron, to take peace from the earth and that they shulde kyll one another.

And there was geuen vnto hym a great

¶ The seuenth seale is opened, there is sylence in heauen: ẏ foure angels blowe theyr trompettes, and great plages fo-lowe vpon the earth.

AND whẽ he had opened the A seuẽth seale, ther was sylẽce in heauen aboute the space of half an houre. And I saw seuen angels stondynge before God, and to them were geuen seuẽ trompettes. And another angell came & stode before the altare, hauynge a goldẽ censer, and much of odoures was geuẽ vnto hym, that he shulde offre of ẏ pray ers of all payntes vpon the goldẽ aultre which was before ẏ seate. And ẏ smoke of the odoures which came of ẏ * pray- Ps.140.a ers of all payntes, ascended vp before God out of the angels honde. And the angel toke the censer, and fylled it with fyre of ẏ aultre, and cast it in to ẏ earth and voyces were made, and thõdrynges and lightenynges, and earthquake.
And the seuen angels which had the B seuen trompettes, prepared them selues to blowe. The fyrste angell blewe, and there was made hayle and fyre, whiche were myngled with bloude, and they were cast in to the earth: and the thyrde parte of trees was burnt, and all grene gras was brent. And the seconde angell blewe: and as it were a greate mountayne burnyng with fyre was cast in to the see, and the thyrde parte of ẏ see tur ned to bloude, and the thyrde parte of ẏ creatures which had lyfe, dyed, and the thyrde part of shyppes were destroyed.
And the thyrde angel blewe, & there fell a greate starre frõ heauen, burnyng as it were a creshet, and it fell in to the thyrde parte of the ryuers, & into foũ-taynes of waters, and the name of the starre is called Wormwod. And ÿ third parte of ÿ waters was turned to worm wod. And many mē dyed of the waters because they were made bytter. And the fourth angell blew, and the thyrde part of the Sonne was smytten, and ÿ third parte of the Mone, and the thirde parte of starres, so that ÿ thyrde parte of thē was darkned. And the daye was smytten, that the thyrde parte of it shuld not shyne, and lykewyse the night. And I be helde, & herde an angell flyenge thorow the myddes of heauē, and sayenge with a lowde voyce: Wo, wo, wo, to ÿ inhabi ters of the earth, because of the voyces to come of ÿ trompe of the thre angels, which were yet to blowe.

¶ The fyft and sixte angel blowe their trompettes: the starre falleth frō heauē: the locustes come out of ÿ smoke: The fyrst wo is past: the foure angels ÿ were bounde are lowsed, and the thyrde part of men is kylled.

AND the fyfte angell blewe, and I sawe a starre fallen from heauen vnto the earth And to hym was geuen the kaye of the * bottomlesse Zacha.9.b pytte. And he opened the bottōlesse pytte and there arose a smoke of ÿ pyt, as it Apoc.14.c were the the * smoke of a great fornace and.19.a ce. And the Sonne and the ayer were darkned by the reason of the smoke of the pytt. And there came out of ÿ smoke locustes vpon the earth: and vnto them was geuen power as the scorpions of ÿ earth haue power. * And it was sayde Apoc.7.a vnto them, that they shulde not hurt the grasse of the earthe: nother ony grene thynge, nother ony tre, but onely those men whiche haue not the seale in theyr forheades, and to them was cōmaūded that they shulde not kyll them, but that they shulde be vexed fyue monethes, and theyr payne was as the payne that cōmeth of a scorpion, whā he hath stonge a man. And in those dayes shall men Osee 10.b * seke death, and shall not fynde it: and Apoc.6.c shall desyre to dye, and death shall flye from them.
B And the similitude of the locustes was lyke vnto horses prepared vnto battayll, and on theyr heades were as it were crownes, lyke vnto golde, & their faces were as it had bene ÿ faces of mē.
And they had heere as ÿ heere of wemē And their tethe were as ÿ tethe of liōs, And they had habbergions, as it were habbergions of yron. And the sounde of theyr wynges, was as ÿ sounde of char rettes whan many horses runne together to battayl. And they had tailes lyke vnto scorpions, and there were stynges in their tayles. And their power was to hurt men fyue monethes. And they had a kynge ouer them, which is the angell of the bottomlesse pyt, whose name is the Hebrue tunge, is Abadon: but in the greke tunge, Apollyon. One wo is past, and beholde two woes come yet after this.
And the sixte angell blewe, and I C herde a voyce from the foure corners of the golden aulter which is before God, sayenge to the sixte angell, which had ÿ trompe: Lowse the foure angels, which are bounde in the greate ryuer Euphra tes. And the foure angels were lowsed, whiche were prepared for an houre, for a daye, for a moneth, & for a yeare, for to slaye thet hyrde parte of mē. And the nōbre of horsmen of warre, were twēty tymes x M. And I herd ÿ nōbre of thē.
And thus I saw ÿ horses in a vysion, and them that sat on thē hauynge fyry habbergyons of a yalowe and brymsto ny colour, and the heades of the horses D were as the heades of lyons. And out of theyr mouthes wēte forth fyre, & smoke and brymstone. And of these thre was ÿ thirde parte of mē kylled: that is to say, of fyre, smoke, & brymstone, which proceded out of ÿ mouthes of thē: For their power was in theyr mouthes, & in theyr tayles: for theyr tayles were lyke vnto serpētes & had heades, & with thē they dyd hurte. And the remnaunt of ÿ men which were not kylled by these plages, repented not of the dedes of their hōdes that they shulde not worshippe deuels, and ymages of golde, and syluer, and brasse, and stone, and of wood, which no ther can se, nother heare, nother go * Al Apo. so they repented not of theyr murthur, and of their witchcraft, nother of theyr whordome, nother of their thefte.

And there came vnto me one of the seuen angels which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plages: and talked with me, sayenge: come hyther, I wyll shewe ỹ the bryde, the lambes wyf. And he caried me awaye in the sprete to a great and an hye mountayne, & he shewed me the greate cyte, holy Ierusalem descending out of heauen from God hauynge the bryghtnes of God. And hyr shynynge was lyke vnto a stone moost precyous, euen as a Iaspar clear as cri-stall: and had great and hye walles, and had twelfe gates, and at ỹ gates twelfe angels: and names wrytten, which are the twelfe trybes of Israell: on the east parte thre gates, and on the north syde thre gates, & toward ỹ south thre ga tes: and on the westsyde thre gates: and the wall of the cyte had twolue founda cyons and in thẽ the names of the lam-bes twolue Apostles.
* And he that talked with me, had a C golden rede to measure the cyte withal, Zach.2.[illegible] & the gates therof, and the wall therof.
And the cyte was buylt foure square, and the length was as large as the bredth of it, & he measured ỹ cyte with the rede twolue M. furlonges: and the length and the bredth, and the heyght of it, were equall. And he measured ỹ wall therof, an.cxliiii. cubites, after the measure of a man, which the angel had.
And the buldinge of the wall of it was of Iaspar. And the cyte was of pure golde, lyke vnto cleare glasse: and the foundacions of the walles and of the cyte were garnysshed with all maner of precious stones. The fyrst foundacyon was a Iaspar, the seconde a Saphyre, the thyrde a Calcedony, the fourth a Smaragde, ỹ fyft a Sardonix, ỹ syxte a Sardeos, the seuenth a Chrisolyte, ỹ
